SUIT IN SUM OF $10,630 FILED

Masonic Temple Company Files Suit Against Contractor Who Is Alleged to Have Violated Contract—Surety Co. and Firms Furnishing Material for Masonic Temple Made Defendants—Claim Contractor Violated Many Provisions of Contract.

Judgment in the sum of $10,630.09 together with other relief is asked in a suit filed in Common Pleas court Monday noon, by Attorney E. L. Bush representing The Masonic Temple Company of this city.

The suit is against Contractor E. E. Bope, his sureties, The Southern Surety Company, of St. Louis, and several manufacturing concerns, the latter being asked to set up their claims aggregating some $9,300.

In brief the plaintiffs allege that the contract for building the new Masonic Temple was awarded to Bope May 31, 1912, for the sum of $39,226.29, and surety in the sum of $13,792 was filed June 12, 1912.

The contractor was to finish the first floor and basement by September 15, 1912, and the remainder by February 15, 1913. A penalty of $15 per day for each day after the date the building was to be finished, until it was completed, was provided. The sum of $3405 is asked because of the delay after the date agreed upon had elapsed.

The contract provided that experienced and proper workmen were to do the work, and that proper materials were to be used. It further provided that the plaintiffs might take the contract off the contractors hands if he failed to comply with the provisions of the contract.

After repeated complaints had been made to the contractor and his surety, because of failure to do the work properly and in the time agreed upon the plaintiffs assumed management of the work on May 6, 1913, and completed the work. The amount paid the contractor was $34,351.95. The surety company failed to take up the work as they are alleged to have agreed to do.

In completing the building the company paid out $12,652.52. Bope had paid out $553 for extras, and the balance due him was $4,874.34.

The company paid out $10,630.09 in excess of the amount provided for in the contract, and damages in that amount are asked.

Plaintiffs ask that the other defendants claiming a lien, be required to set up their lien.

GUTZEN SAYS WE'RE FOOLED

By Associated Press.

New York City, Feb. 9.—Nearly sixty per cent of the monuments and statues in the United States, including those in Statuary Hall, Washington, were not made by those whose names they bear, according to a statement made today by Gutzen Borglum, a sculptor.

Real sculptors do the work and other men get the honor and most of the money. "That is how America gets her art," he said.

FOREIGNERS CAN NOW HAVE TRIAL

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 9.—Indirect assurance has been received at the White House that Gen. Villa will accord foreigners, including Spaniards, proper treatment. It is understood he will not ignore activity of foreigners in behalf of Gen. Huerta, but will extend to such the right of trial. In the main, this assurance is said to be satisfactory.

CHILLICOTHE MAN DIES IN HOSPITAL

By Associated Press.

Chillicothe, Ohio, Feb. 9.—George B. Warner, manager of the Hotel Warner, 32nd Degree Mason, Treasurer of the Ohio Hotelkeepers' Association and Director of the Chillicothe Ohio State League Baseball Team, died at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, Ohio. He was 49 years old.

IRISH FARMER WINS POINT

By Associated Press.

London, England, Feb. 9.—Printed notice on a steamship ticket exempting the company from liability for loss by a passenger, even through neglect of the company, does not absolve the company from liability, according to a ruling of the Court of Appeals today.

Such a condition is illegal, the court held in a test case filed by an Irish farmer to collect damages for the loss of his son on the Titanic.

MAYOR TO APPOINT STREET DRESS CENSOR.

Elkhart, Ind., Feb. 9.—Mayor Smith will select a woman officer who will patrol a beat and who will be charged with the special duty of bringing before the mayor for reprimand the young women whose style of dress does not meet with approval. The mayor is taking radical measures to suppress what he terms an evil by compelling women to wear less suggestive gowns on the street or in social gatherings. He believes he will be able to mitigate this evil by having a woman especially detailed for the purpose.

NATIONAL ISSUE IN PROHIBITION DISTURBS LEADERS

Washington, Feb. 9.—The spread of the prohibition sentiment in the United States in the last year has made a deep impression on leaders in congress. In fact many of the leaders already see the prohibition question looming up as a national issue. They fear the time is nearing when a constitutional amendment providing for national prohibition will be submitted by congress to a referendum of the states. Such an amendment is now pending in both the house and the senate, and the promotion of it through congress is the accomplishment toward which all the anti-ruin forces are looking most hopefully.

It has long been a matter of comment in Washington that the only way in which temperance legislation can be prevented in congress is by holding the bills in committee and keeping them from the floor of the house or senate.

The passage of the Jones-Works excise law for the District of Columbia and the enactment of the Webb-Kenyon law to prohibit the shipment of liquor into prohibition territory for sale were regarded by the temperance crusaders as red-letter events on their last year's calendar.

The ease with which the passage of the laws has been obtained has left its impression on congress too. Few members dared to oppose them in the open.

BIG BANKING HOUSE FAILURE IN DIXIE

By Associated Press.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 9.—Ten Directors of the Mercantile Bank, one of the most important financial institutions in the city, today filed a petition in Chancery Court, charging that the bank was insolvent, as the result of the alleged misapplication of more than $750,000 by C. Hunter Raine, President of the institution. In the petition Raine was held solely responsible for the apparent shortage, which, it is charged, he obtained "by a system of handling drafts, property and exchange in such a way as to deceive the directors and to conceal his manipulations." The total amount, it is alleged, he lost in speculation.

The petition places the liability of the bank at approximately $2,196,894, with assets of $1,408,989. It was stated that President Raine absolved all of the officials and directors of the bank of implication in the alleged shortage and tendered his personal estate, which he valued at $350,000, to the bank. He has made no formal statement.

Raine was charged with embezzlement in a warrant sworn out today by Z. N. Estes, county attorney general.

$5 SUITS GRAVES

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, February 5.—Automobiles will be licensed under the old rate of $5.00 a car, if Secretary Graves has his way. He is opposed to the plan of Governor Cox to have a bill providing a sliding scale introduced in the legislature next week, he said today. ## BULLETS WHIZ

CHILLICOTHE WOMAN CINCINNATI SUICIDE?

By Associated Press.

Cincinnati, Ohio, February 9.—Police and Coroner Foertmeyer today were investigating the death of a woman giving her name as Mrs. Margaret Wagner, 21, laundress, who drank poison in a flat building last night and died several hours after. Two men, one of whom gave the name of John Krisler, and the other Cleveland Turney, accompanied the woman to the hospital in a patrol wagon, but left the hospital without giving the attendants any information about the case. The woman in charge of the flat building said Mrs.

Wagner rented the flat three weeks ago, saying she and her husband had just come from Chillicothe, Ohio.

The mystery surrounding the identity of the woman was somewhat dispelled by Mrs. Hannah Jackson, of Charleston, W. Va., who identified the remains as those of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret H. Wagner, who lived with her husband, Herbert L., at Charleston until five weeks ago, when she came to Cincinnati and took work in a laundry. Mrs. Wagner jointly occupied a flat on Mound street with Mr. Kestler, a cousin and his wife.

FIGHTING TO OBTAIN EXCLUSIVE NEWS OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

By Associated Press.

Washington, February 9. — The Associated Press, the greatest news organization in the world, is again the object of attack as an alleged trust or monopoly. This time the complaint is made by the New York Sun, which, maintains an opposition news service. The Sun has asked Attorney General McReynolds to institute a suit against the Associated Press under the Sherman law. The Sun cannot become a member of the Associated Press, and it contends that, in spite of its opposition, it should have the right to buy the news obtained by the Associated Press. The officers of the Associated Press have informed the attorney general that any information in their possession regarding the Associated Press will be cheerfully placed at his disposal.

The Associated Press never sleeps. Wherever throughout the world there may be news there will be a representative of the Associated Press ready to gather it and forward it by wireless or cable or telegraph or telephone to the Washington Daily Herald and its hundreds of other members. Time and again disgruntled newspapers have appealed to the courts as has the New York Sun, but the courts have held that there is a property right in news and that the Associated Press has the power to protect this right by suitable rules to prevent non-members obtaining the information, just as the Washington Daily Herald has a property right in the information gathered by its reporters and need not divulge it before publication to other papers. The Associated Press is a mutual and co-operative association of newspapers in the United States formed for the purpose of gathering and distributing to its members news collected by its members or its agents.

In its charter it is specifically set forth that it is not formed to make a profit nor to make or declare dividends; that it is not to engage in the business of selling intelligence or trafficking in the same.

There are about 900 newspapers in the association, each of which contributes to the common budget of news and pays its share of the organization's expenses.

The chief interest of Washington

XENIANS INTERESTED IN NEW INVENTION

For some time past a number of local men have been quietly working on a proposal which comes to them from the inventor of a wheat shocking attachment for self-binder reapers—an appliance which will greatly simplify and reduce the work of harvesting wheat by dumping the shocks where they should stand in the field without the necessity of two men following the reaper for the purpose of shocking. In view of the great scarcity of harvest hands each season, especially in the west and northwest, there is great necessity for a machine of this kind, and the invention in question appears to do the work in a satisfactory manner.

Negotiations have now reached the point where there is a definite understanding with the inventor, and as soon as certain details can be arranged the work of organizing a Xenia company will be taken up.

Experienced farm machinery men have examined the invention and believe that it will prove a success, and they say there is a great opportunity for it. It can be manufactured easily and cheaply, and the intention is to make a few hundred of them experimentally, and if they take with the trade, the business will be pushed vigorously.

There is an opportunity in this for the people of Xenia. If this invention proves the success its friends believe it will be, it would mean the establishment here of an enormous factory.—Xenia Republican.

FLOODS FEARED

Washington, Feb. 9. — Financial starvation has halted the efforts of the national drainage congress to guard against a recurrence of the floods which damaged the middle western and southern states last year. Edmund T. Perkins, president of the congress, notified Ernest P. Bicknell, national director of the Red Cross society, of his inability to launch operations because of lack of funds, and warned the Red Cross to be prepared to cope again in a few weeks with flood havoc such as that of last year, which cost the American people nearly 1,000 lives and property to the extent of $200,000,000. Mr. Perkins declared that the abnormal winter, with light snowfall, gives ground to expect the Red Cross will again be sent to the alleviation of "disasters which the American public has not yet decided to avert."

CLAIM SURVEY MADE FOR ROAD

Claiming that the C. & O. railroad is after the D. T. & I. or part of it at least, the Chillicothe News-Advertiser has the following to say about the road and its plans:

"Recently in the reorganization of the D. T. & I. the N. & W. is known to have made an offer for the purchase of a large part of the stock of that road, but about that time a receivership was declared and the matter was dropped for the time being. After three receivers had been appointed and each one at different times had resigned or given up the job for some cause, the son of president Johnson of the N. & W. railroad was appointed to manage the affairs of the D. T. & I. and he has been so doing ever since that time.

Old Survey Made.

"Some two or three years ago a survey was made of the country from Bainbridge through to this city, the survey as it happened, coming down Arch street to the canal. B. & O. officials even have admitted that such a course would be most desirable right of way for any sort of railway line to the westward.

"With the son of the president of the N. & W. railway company in charge of the D. T. & I. which has a good roadbed all the way from Bainbridge to the Lakes and with the N. & W.'s well known desire for an outlet in that direction, together with the surveys and proposals now being made for a connecting link between the two, some idea of what the plans of the N. & W. officials call for may be had.

C. & O. In On Deal.

"As published in the News-Advertiser some time ago, the C. & O. railway company, another road seeking an outlet to the Lakes has offered to purchase sixteen miles of the old canal bed below this city. One twelve mile section of this starts with the corporation line running south. It is also a well known fact that the N. & W. and C. & O. have some sort of working agreement by which the N. & W. is to transport the other's merchandise over its lines to Columbus.

"Now the program which suggests itself is that the C. & O. to help relieve congestion on the Columbus branch is to purchase the old canal bed between this city and Portsmouth. The N. & W. is to secure a connection with the D. T. & I. for the needed outlet to the Great Lakes then with a common agreement the traffic of both roads to either Columbus or the Lakes could be easily taken care of at a minimum expense to each."

SOUTH RICH IN WATER POWER.

Remarkable Development of Resources Told by Geological Survey.

Washington.—The remarkable development of the south's water power resources is told in a statement issued by the federal geological survey. It gives the results of the survey's investigation of practically all the important river basins of the southern states, and daily gauge heights and discharges covering the year 1911 are recorded.

At any reasonable valuation per horsepower, it is stated, the undeveloped power of these streams is an important industrial asset.

In Georgia and the Carolinas more than 100,000 horsepower has been developed and is being used by the cotton mills alone, and public service corporations in these three states are today developing 300,000 to 400,000 additional horsepower to turn the hundreds of mills and light the many towns and cities in the region.

AFTER FIVE YEARS.

Winthrop Child Was Restored to Health by Vinol.

"Five years ago our little girl had a severe attack of diphtheria which left her subject to bronchitis and stomach trouble. She has been almost constantly under medical treatment. I have tried also two or three remedies containing cod liver oil but found her stomach rebelled against the oil. Reading your description of Vinol I decided to try it and did so with most astonishing results. I cannot begin to tell you how she has improved because you do not know what a little sufferer she was for five years. She has gained ten pounds since she commenced to take Vinol, and the story of what Vinol has done for her is only half told in this letter." Mrs. Adelaide Mulloy, Winthrop, Mass.

Vinol contains all the healing curative properties of cod liver oil, without the oil, and tonic iron added.

That is why it helped this little girl after other remedies had failed.

Being Put to the Test

This is a day and an age of regulatory legislation. Today there are in force many laws which only a few short years ago would have been generally conceded to be indirect violation of the constitution both of the state and of the nation. But as time changes, conditions change, and the demands of the public change, and honest, conservative, public opinion is, after all, the court of last resort on the question as to whether legislation violates the constitutional provisions.

The constitution of the United States is the fundamental law of the land. No state of the union, no matter what its particular constitution permits, can enact any legislation which violates any of the constitutional rights of the people of that state or of any other state as those rights are guaranteed to them in the federal constitution.

Constitutional rights, so called, are not rights which the constitution grants to the people—they are only natural rights which the people never transferred to the government by the constitution.

The right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are among the natural rights which the people of this land have always retained and these rights cannot be taken away or abridged by any legislation by congress or by the legislatures of the state.

It should be remembered, however, that these rights only exist in natural persons and are, correctly speaking, natural rights.

No corporation, no partnership and no other creature of the law possesses any of these natural rights and consequently the congress of the nation and the legislatures of the state, are free to regulate and control them as they deem proper. These creatures of the law may be regulated and controlled, their powers may be abridged or extended by law as the creating power may decree.

More than twenty of the states of the union have enacted regulatory legislation seeking to prevent frauds in the sale of securities and real estate and this legislation, imposing as it does, a burden upon legitimate business abridging in a measure the rights of both natural and legal persons, restricting the liberty of individuals to the extent that it regulates and attempts to control their dealings with each other, is now the subject of contention in the courts.

The courts of the several states have announced contradictory conclusions as to the validity of these laws and the several federal courts which have passed on the validity of such laws are not in accord in the decisions announced.

It remains for the Supreme court of the United States—the court of last resort—to announce whether the conditions of trade are such as to warrant the legislatures of the several states in adopting these regulatory laws.

Courts have held that to insure liberty and protection to the individual the law-making powers could impose whatever burden was necessary upon legitimate business in order that fraud might not stalk abroad and prey upon the unwary and the inexperienced.

Has the practice of selling worthless mining stocks and bonds and other securities of no value and farm lands in the unchartered deserts and swamps become so general and so wide-spread that legitimate business—the liberty of the individual—may be burdened with restrictions in order that these frauds may be stopped?

Is the legitimate business of the individual being used as a mask with which fraud covers its features, and is the practice so general and so dangerous to the public that courts will take notice of its existence?

If the court of last resort finds that such conditions exist then the natural right of the individual may be abridged for the good of the public.

That wholesale frauds in the sale of bogus securities and worthless real estate have been rampant no man of experience questions.

Millions of hard-earned dollars are taken annually from the pockets of the toilers by designing scoundrels who never do an honest day's work.

Can such practices be stopped? The legislatures of twenty odd states have attempted to do so by the enactment of "blue sky" laws.

The law-making powers have settled the question so far as they are concerned.

Most of these laws seem to meet with public approval—some are entirely too drastic and should fail in the courts for particular reasons.

The application of the broad principle of the constitution guaranteeing to the individual the fullest measure of liberty consistent with the right of the whole public, to present conditions must now be announced by the Supreme court and upon that decision depends the validity of this regulatory legislation.

Poetry For Today

VALUE OF MEMORY.

Isn't it funny—
This thing we call money?
It's very much when right in our view;
But, oh, it's that feeling
With which we are dealing
That tells us all the big things it will do.

The round, ringing dollar
Is not worth a "holler"
If you are on board and the ship's
going down.
It never can hold you
If Fate means to scold you.
It only adds weight in helping you down.

A penny's a penny—
We all long for many;
We judge and are judged by the size
of our "pile."
With it we're respected,
Without it—rejected.
Its tingle and jingle will make the world smile.

It's funny—this money.
We love it like honey;
The more that we get, the more that we need.
Some nibble and taste it,
Some gobble and waste it,
Some dull all their sense with their
craving of greed.

It buys a pleasure,
It gains us a treasure;
It makes us a god to be envied by kings;
But when all is over,
And we're neath the clover,
It won't do much good in purchasing
wings.

FEAR TUG LOST

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 9.—Wireless stations along the Atlantic coast are making repeated efforts to locate the naval tug Potomac, which is reported lost in the ice off the coast of Newfoundland. The Potomac left this port several weeks ago to assist fishing craft caught in ice floes off Newfoundland. The tug for a time was in communication with wireless stations, but for over a week nothing has been heard from her. Appeals have been sent broadcast asking all ships to take part in the search. The Potomac, the most powerful tug owned by Uncle Sam, carries a crew of 30 men. She is commanded by Roatswain Wilkinson.

WALSH DENIES CANAL STORY

Free Tolls Plank Not Slipped
In Platform As a Joker.

SAYS BRYAN HELPED DRAFT IT

Secretary of the Resolutions Committee of the Baltimore Convention Takes a Hand in the Controversy Over the Panama Canal Plank. Attempt to Repeal Tolls Legislation Will Stir Up a Big Fuss.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The controversy over the Panama canal free tolls plank in the Baltimore platform is waxing warmer. Some of Secretary of State Bryan's friends have intimated that the free tolls plank was smuggled into the platform and that Mr. Bryan, who was chairman of the resolutions committee at the Baltimore convention, knew nothing about it until later. Chairman Adamson of the house committee on interstate commerce charged, in effect, that the plank had been slipped in as a joker and that neither the resolutions committee nor the Democratic convention approved it with a full understanding of what had been done.

Senator Walsh of Montana, who was a member of the resolutions committee and secretary as well, gave out a statement in which he says that Mr. Bryan not only assisted in the preparation of the free tolls plank to the Democratic platform, but suggested a modification, which was agreed to before the plank was approved. Senator Walsh, as secretary of the committee, put the views of the subcommittee into writing. His recollection of the preparation and adoption of the canal tolls plank was very clear, he said. There was no objection to it in the subcommittee or in the full resolutions committee. A subcommittee of four reported the canal tolls plank, which included Mr. Bryan, Senators Pomerene and O'Gorman. Senator Walsh declared there was no suggestion that the plank was a joker or that it got into the platform surreptitiously.

According to Senator Walsh the free tolls plank was offered by Senator O'Gorman and accepted with very little debate.

It is apparent that the attempt of the president to repeal the canal tolls legislation will stir up a big fuss in congress and that the fight will revolve about the contention that such action will constitute a violation of the platform pledge.

MANNING HELD

Newark, N. J., Feb. 9.—Charles I. Manning remains in jail here while detectives attempt to verify a theory of their own that he met Hazel Herdman, Mrs. Manning's murderess, after the shooting on Friday evening, and assisted her to Bloomfield. Manning asserts his innocence and has denied that he met Miss Herdman. Doctors of the staff of the Mount Sinai hospital in Montclair, where Miss Herdman died after having taken poison, say that there was nothing in her farewell letter which connected Manning with the murder.

The year-and-a-half-old boy, Manning's and Miss Herdman's child, is being cared for in Bloomfield by people with whom the mother placed the baby.

HOOSIER DINERS TO CUT ORATORY

New York, Feb. 9.—The annual dinner of the Indiana society and the Daughter of Indiana at the Hotel Astor Feb. 19 will be toastmasterless and speechless. Horace Hurd, secretary of the men's society, said that the Indians want the honor of being the first state society to substitute dancing, auction bridge and vaudeville for long hours of dreary speechmaking. After the 500 or more former residents of Indiana finish a $3.50 dinner they will have several big rooms in the Astor at their disposal for dancing, auction bridge, vaudeville and for relieving thirst.

RACE CLASH FATAL

Americus, Ga., Feb. 9.—Marion Bass, a deputy constable, was killed; Tucker Cassell, constable, seriously wounded; Lou Larramore, deputy constable, painfully wounded, and Edward Tyson, a negro, killed in a battle at a negro settlement near De Soto, 15 miles from his place. Cooper Bivins, another negro, is being pursued by a posse with bloodhounds. It is reported that Bivins is armed. The fight began when officers attempted to arrest several negroes charged with firing on two white men.

NEWS OUR FATHERS READ

By John E. M. Kerr.

May 2, 1872.

Married:—At the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Keen, Mr. Jas. B. Collier to Miss Kate Gordon. Last week the above was handed us but we had neither time nor space in our columns to return thanks to the newly wedded couple for their kind remembrance of this office and we take this opportunity to wish our friend Collier and "darling Kate" all the joys attendant upon mortals here below. May their pathway through life be garlanded with prosperity's most beautiful flowers, may their days be laden with joy and pass happily into years of great pleasure.

The company present was one of the largest and gayest ever assembled in their place on any occasion. The cakes, ice cream and other good things incident to such gatherings were abundant, and of superior quality. The bride's gifts were numerous, useful, ornamental, valuable and altogether, perhaps, there never was a wedding more universally attended in our town.

The scriptures tell us of a James

And earned an honest livelihood,

By fishing in the sea.

But our James, we beg his pardon,

Not fearing family noises,

The little city of Manchester claims to be the tobacco market that leads all other towns in the state in regard to large sales of the weed. Last week 175,000 pounds were sold at prices ranging from 15 cents to 23.5 cents per pound. All the tobacco is sold at auction and the many buyers attending Manchester sales assures the sellers the top price for their product.

The Mayors of Ohio cities differ as to what constitutes gambling. In Columbus when Mayor Karb took the lid off dice shaking in cigar stores, etc., the liquor license commission clamped it down tight on shaking the dice in saloons. In Dayton the saloon men themselves put the lid on dice games. In almost all other cities and towns the officials have put the ban on all forms of gambling.

To use in case of emergency the city fire department of Troy has had built three large boats of a type called the "Mississippi River Style." They are built to withstand any rough use or weather without swamping. They are constructed of white oak, reinforced with steel, mounted on trucks and kept at the fire department building.

The new general manager of the D. T. & I. who comes from the big west, from the Santa Fee, announced Saturday that the work of rehabilitating the line would begin about the first of March, when many improvements would be started.

A Summit county blacksmith living at Hudson, a village near Akron, claims to have discovered an ore in the hills near his home that is radium bearing. The blacksmith is a chemist in a small way, and claims his oil to be carmotite, the same as the Colorado mineral that produces radium. The metal looks like gold and is found in large quantities near Akron.

UPBRAIDED THE WHOLE OUTFIT

Washington, Feb. 9.—A report on the condition existing in the California hop fields at the time of the fatal riot at Wheatlands was made public by Chairman Frank P. Walsh of the federal commission on industrial relations.

The report, submitted to the commission by Carleton H. Parker, secretary of the California immigration commission, who was engaged as a special investigator, bitterly attacks conditions in the hop fields, setting forth that wages and living conditions there contribute to the strength of the Industrial Workers of the World "and their revolutionary doctrines."

Chairman Walsh announced that a searching examination of sanitation and wages in camps of migratory laborers will be made by the commission to find out if conditions disclosed in the hop fields exist to any extent in other places.

STEWART HOGS BRING AVERAGE OF $55 EACH

Herd of 57 Pure-Bred Duroc-Jersey Hogs, Offered by Hugh K. Stewart, Set New Record of Values.

$130 PAID FOR THE BEST ANIMAL

Buyers and Breeders From Several States Were in Attendance and the Bidding Was Spirited at All Times.

The Hugh K. Stewart annual sale of immune Duroc bred sows from the Spring Hill Farm held Saturday at the Hess livery barn, proved the greatest of its kind in this section of the country in many a day.

Both foreign and local breeders, attending in large numbers were amazed at the tremendous success of the sale, and the way prices soared beyond all precedent.

The entire sale was a triumph for the breeders and raisers of pure bred stock, in its demonstration of the demand for stock of the highest class, and a special triumph for Mr. Stewart, whose reputation as a breeder of Durocs is always an unquestioned guarantee of the value of the purchase.

An interesting feature of the sale was the statement made by Mr. Geo. Smidley, of New Holland, to the auctioneers, concerning 4 immune Duroc sows bought at Mr. Stewart's October sale. Mr. Smidley has lost 109 hogs with cholera this fall, but the 4 immune Durocs ate and slept with the cholera hogs and never missed a feed.

They are in perfect health and clearly demonstrate that immunizing is the thing to do.

While the largest crowd of foreign breeders ever in attendance at a local hog sale was present, and the bidding was exceedingly lively, this time local buyers were after the cream and the largest number of high class sows were knocked down to them.

The total offering of 57 head averaged $55 a head, a remarkable average.

J. A. Wissler, who is starting a herd at his farm on the edge of Madison county, bid in the choice of the bunch at $130, and six more of the highest priced.

Dr. C. A. Still, head of the Kirksville, Mo., Osteopathic school bought 2 extra good ones to ship to Missouri. Mr. W. A. Bacon, 2 for his plantation in Alabama and other foreign buyers who made fortunate purchases were J. O. Duncan, Lebanon, Ky.; McKee Bros., Versailles, Ky.; F. O. Ford & Son, Greentown, Ind.; Harry Goldman, Middletown, Ind.; Frank Harlow, Dallas, Texas; J. G. Marie, Cincinnati; Ira Jackson, Tippecanoe City; Os Jones, Wilmington; H. M. Peters, Amanda; L. G. Siefert, R. W. Jones, Greenfield; J. N. Carson & Son, East Monroe.

Among the prominent local bidders were Profit and Hunt, who bid in 7 head; J. E. Free, Good Hope, 2 mighty good ones; Geo. McCrea, New Holland; Benton Garringer; Alex. H. Ballard, three that averaged over $80 a head; Harry Brown.

Among the foreign breeders present were S. E. Morton, of Camden, a man who has done more for the red hog breed than any man living; R. C. Watts, Cedarville; Robt. Ewing, of baseball fame, of New Hampshire; Robt. Evans, secretary American Duroc Hog Association; Truax & Son, Sycamore; Thos. Johnson, of Columbus; F. D. Hengst, Nashville, Tenn.; E. K. Morris, of the Swine Breeders' Journal, Indianapolis; W. P. Penery, of the Duroc Bulletin, Peoria, Ill.

The auctioneers, H. L. Inglehart, of Elizabeth, Ky., and Col. M. Engles, of Mt. Sterling, kept the bidding stirred to the liveliest pitch.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday night at the Presbyterian church, Rev. W. B. Gage conducted a beautiful service in honor of the great Lincoln.

The church and chancel was elaborately decorated with immense flags and the music was specially appropos.

Mrs. Mary G. Burgett sang a lovely contralto solo.

Rev. Gage delivered an able sermon on "The Religious Aspects of the Life of Lincoln," from which we give a brief excerpt:

"We count it happy to live in a world which looks with a misty and kind eye toward its departed, and at the grave, forsaking all harsh aspersions, speaks only that which is loving and kind. Truly none have benefited more by this trait of human nature, than the subject of our evening sermon, Abraham Lincoln, the martyred and lamented President of the United States. In infancy born to the arms of a beautiful but dying mother; in youth inured to hardship and bitterest poverty, the fortunes of his mature life were far from easy. To his home there came the scorpion of domestic infelicity, while like a shower of poisoned arrows there was ever rained upon him, criticism both unkind and unjust. And these scarified his face with those lines of characteristic sorrow, and drove him for solace to the sunny refuge of a genial humor that will ever be associated with him. Hence the speeding bullet of the assassin was not altogether an evil thing, for it slew this mean spoken villany and vituperation, and trusted his memory to such kindly care, that today with Washington he shares the nations veneration, and is never spoken of save in words of praise.

If we would understand that rugged honesty that marks, lifts up, and sustains his life as granite does the peak of the mountain, let us remember that the library of his cabin home contained but two books, the Bible and Bunyan's matchless allegory, Pilgrims Progress. The one strengthened his mind and trust iron into his moral nature; the other thrust color into his imagination, and lent its wings power of flight. Living during his boyhood in close companionship with them, he never was able to separate himself from the spirit of the ancient prophets. While the story of Divine love as recorded in the New Testament, so mellowed his heart and softened his spirit, that he will ever be remembered as one of the kindest of men. Hence when the emancipated slave of Baltimore presented him with a Bible, he gladly inscribed upon its fly leaf this tribute saying, 'It is the best gift which God has given to men; all the good from the Saviours of the world is communicated through this book. Matchless tribute. But how deserved. Truly in the hour of sorrow it was his consolation. In the hour of darkness it was his light. In the hour of weakness it was his source of strength.

"To a friend he writes, 'I am in the garden of Gethsemane and my cup of bitterness is full and overflowing. And I have read on my knees the story of Gethsemane, where the Son of God prayed in vain that the cup of bitterness might pass from him.' And in the perplexing years of the wars closing he writes again, 'I am profitably engaged in the reading of the Bible. Take all this book you can upon reason, and the balance upon faith, and you will live and die a better man.'"

LOSES TWO HORSES IN ONE WEEK'S TIME

L. M. Maag, who for several years has carried the mail from the postoffice to the various depots, has just lost two horses which he has used in the work of transferring the mail.

Some ten days ago while leaving his residence on Elm street about 4 o'clock in the morning, and while crossing a large open ditch along Elm street, his horse fell into the ditch, carrying wagon and driver with it. The animal was so badly injured that it was necessary to kill it last week.

Another horse, purchased to pull the mail wagon, picked up a rusty nail a week ago, and blood poisoning developed with the result that the animal died Sunday.

As Mr. Maag can ill afford to lose even one horse, the loss is keenly felt, and to add to his other worries he injured his hand while assisting in loading the last horse into a fertilizer wagon, and now fears blood poison, although he has taken steps to prevent it.

He states that some one is responsible for the open ditch in front of his premises, on Elm street, and that he has secured an attorney to bring suit for damages in an amount sufficient to cover the value of the horse which fell into the ditch and was fatally injured.

MERCURY REACHES THE ZERO MARK

Thermometers in the city and county varied several degrees, as usual, Monday morning, some standing as much as six above and others, principally in the rural districts registering two and four below zero.

The Gossard self-registering thermometer at three o'clock Monday morning showed six above zero.

The warmest weather recorded by the Gossard thermometer, for Sunday, was 24 degrees at high noon. Sunday morning at six o'clock it stood at 11 above zero.

Monday of last week the highest point attained was 54 degrees.

ASKED TO BREAK UP GANG OF YOUNGSTERS

Complaint has been made to the police of a gang of mere boys who have been congregating in an old building near Elm street along the D. T. & I. railroad, and the police will take whatever action is deemed advisable in dealing with the problem.

The person making the complaint stated that the boys have been in the habit of gathering at their "tramp house" and having a hilarious time, particularly on Sunday.

COLT RUNS AWAY SMASHES BUGGY

A colt driven by Gilbert Dowler, who lives a few miles outside of this city, broke away while being hitched up in a local livery barn at a late hour Saturday night, and after running at breakneck speed down the street, struck the curb near the D. T. & I. depot, with the result that the rig was completely demolished, and the horse, stripped of buggy and harness, continued on its wild run, being found in Millwood at an early hour Sunday morning.

Some groceries and other articles were picked up by the police and taken to the Mayor's office, and the owner claimed them Sunday. For some little time after the runaway the owner did not know what had become of the horse and buggy.

FUGITIVE FOUND IN EASTERN HOSPITAL

George W. Osgoodby, accused of shady work in connection with the Osborn bank failure, is now confined to a hospital in Ridgeway, New Jersey, where two detectives are standing guard ready to arrest him as soon as he recovers sufficiently to be removed from the hospital.

From Xenia it is learned that Osgoodby was president of the defunct, J. P. Russell & Company, of Dayton, and was last week secretly indicted for the misappropriation of $13,500.

It is claimed the man was back of several schemes which were decidedly shady, and that he played an important part in the wrecking of the Osborn bank.

It was learned that Osgoodby had been located in Ridgeway, N. J., and a telegram was sent there for the authorities to arrest him. A search revealed the fact that the man was in a critical condition in a hospital at that place.

RABID DOG KILLED AFTER ATTACKING MANY OTHER DOGS

Jeffersonville and vicinity had a real mad dog excitement Sunday, regardless of the fact that many supposed mad dogs existed only in warm weather.

The animal which caused the excitement in and near Jeffersonville gave every indication of having the rabies. It was a medium-sized, black and white animal, which first attracted attention by attacking and biting other dogs.

The dog came from the direction of this city, and was first seen by Lewis Bates, residing between two and three miles south of Jeffersonville on the Washington pike. It bit the Bates dog, and then started toward Jeffersonville. Mr. Bates phoned ahead and a posse greeted the rabid animal when it arrived, showering it with missiles. Two or three shots were fired at it, and it was wounded.

Without making any outcry when wounded, the dog continued on its way pursued by a number of men and boys, most of whom kept at a respectful distance. It attacked and wounded a number of dogs in the neighborhood.

At a point some three miles from Jeffersonville it was shot and killed by Glenn Brock and others, who cornered the brute.

The head will be examined by the State Veterinarian, and it will then be known whether or not the dog was really suffering from hydrophobia as believed. Whether the dog came from this city is not known.

THE MAN WITH THE MESSAGE ADDRESSES LARGE AUDIENCE

Simultaneous Campaign Ends in All Local Churches Except Christian, Where Interest Continues Unabated and Many Nightly Respond to Invitation—Mr. E. S. Lorenz Gives Ten Reasons Why He Is Christian.

(By Hugh C. Weir.)
A remarkable man brought a remarkable message to this city yesterday afternoon. He was E. S. Lorenz, of Dayton, and his message was given under the subject of "Ten Reasons Why a Business Man Should Be a Christian." Mr. Lorenz himself is one of the most successful and best known business men of Dayton. He has built up a great music publishing firm. And his address was given entirely from standpoint of the hard-headed business man, who looks on the subject of the Christian religion as a business proposition.

Mr. Lorenz spoke at the Sunday afternoon mass meeting of the Simultaneous Evangelistic Campaign at the Grace M. E. church. It had been announced that there would be two meetings, one for men and one for women. The unexpected absence of Mrs. Romans, however, who had been scheduled to address the women, made it necessary at the last moment to combine the two meetings, with Mr. Lorenz as the principal speaker. The address of Mr. Lorenz was of the type that should be printed in a large edition and circulated broadcast. It was pertinent, practical, personal, the study of a business man of the biggest subject in the world. Mr. Lorenz did not deal with adjectives, but with tested facts. His address was largely his personal narrative of his own experiences.

"There are ten reasons why a business man I am a Christian," he said. "I could give you twenty or thirty reasons, but I am going to confine myself to ten." The reasons which Mr. Lorenz advanced were as follows: Because the Gospel of Christ assures me of forgiveness for my sins; because it gives me strength to fight temptation; because it provides the most effective power to drive my physical, mental and spiritual machinery; because it gives me the only real solace in time of trouble and affliction; because it enables me to keep in tune with all of God's great world of infinity; because it gives me ideals and purposes and plans and thoughts, for which I have the most enthusiastic admiration; because it is a religion that from the standpoint of business efficiency really works, really does what it sets out to do; because it provides me with good, inspiring, helpful company; because it gives me a strength and vision that at the end of the journey will rob the grave of its terror; and because from every conceivable viewpoint the Christian religion is right, and it is right that every thinking man should give to it his active, personal, consecrated support."

Mr. Lorenz is the kind of a business man who sees visions beyond the day's work, and who is big enough, and enthusiastic enough, and sincere enough to pass those visions on to others. It is not too much to say that his address was one of the most appealing, and practical of the

WHEN LINCOLN FACED A MOB.

IT was during a political campaign in Springfield, Ill., before the war that Lincoln protected Edward D. Baker from a mob which threatened to drag him off the stand. "Baker was speaking in a large room," says Arnold, biographer of Lincoln. "rented and used for the court sessions, and Lincoln's office was in an apartment over the courtroom and communicating with it by a trapdoor. Lincoln was in his office listening to Baker through the open trapdoor, when Baker, becoming excited, abused the Democrats, many of whom were present. A cry was raised, 'Pull him off the stand!' 'The instant Lincoln heard the cry, knowing a general fight was imminent, his athletic form was seen descending from above through the opening of the trapdoor, and, springing to the side of Baker and waving his hand for silence, he said with dignity: 'Gentlemen, let us not disgrace the age and country in which we live. This is a land where freedom of speech is guaranteed. Baker has a right to speak. I am here to protect him, and no man shall take him from this stand if I can prevent it.' Quiet was restored, and Baker finished his speech without interruption."

Not What He Meant.

"You eat very little, Mr. Smith," said the maiden coyly to the bashful lover who had been invited to share the family holiday dinner. "Yes," replied he, and for once he saw a chance, and, grasping his courage, he said, "To sit next to you, Miss Grace, is to lose one's appetite."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Skirmishing In Progress In the Outskirts of Torreon.

Bridges On the Mexican Central Railroad Burned by Federal Detachments—Search Made For American Victims of the Wreck at Cumbre Tunnel—Huerta Suggests Boycott of American Imports.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 9.—Continuous skirmishing near Torreon between rebels and federal outposts have been in progress for three days, and the Huerta soldiers have been forced back from a point 15 miles west of Torreon to Laredo, about three miles from the city proper. This information was brought to Juarez by Captain Raoul Najera, who comes from Escalon, where the rebel front on the National railway is established.

Constitutionalist troops under the Arista brothers have advanced on Torreon from the west and have pushed their outposts as far as Las Cuevas, within 10 miles of the city. No details of the fighting have reached Escalon, according to Captain Najera. He believes that many lives have been lost, but has no idea of the number.

Federal bridge burning detachments have been active north of Torreon during the past week. They have burned bridges on the Mexican Central railway as far north as Coejos, 50 miles above Torreon.

The rebel mint in Chihuahua for coinage of gold and silver money will be turning out the coins by the end of this week.

Rescuers from El Paso and Juarez have reached Cumbre tunnel to join in the search for the 40 passengers who are thought to have lost their lives on the Mexican Northwestern train wrecked in the tunnel last week. Several high officials of the road are included among the missing.

In the south end of the tunnel the rescuing party has already uncovered the locomotive and express car of the passenger train which dashed into the freight train that the bandits had already destroyed by fire at the south mouth of the tunnel.

To add to the horror of the situation, the earth slides may fill the tunnel so completely as to prevent recovery of all bodies for many days. It is hoped, though, that these cave-ins will so obstruct the passage of air through the tunnel that the flames will die.

With a band of about 800 Castillo started his campaign in the north. He first captured the station of Guzman, and his latest attack was that which resulted in the destruction of two trains of the Northwestern railway in the Cumbre tunnel. Fifty-one passengers and railroad employees, including a number of Americans, are believed to have perished in this disaster.

General Villa is seriously alarmed over the advance of Castillo's troops. A force of 300 sent out by Villa last week was destroyed by the bandits.

LENTZ FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

Former Ohio Congressman Announces His Candidacy.

ALSO OUTLINES HIS PRINCIPLES

Stood For Progressive Ideas When It Was Very Unpopular to Do So and When It Cost Him Clients and Friends—Believes in the Wisdom, Honesty and Aristocracy of the Common People.

Columbus, O., (Special).—On the eve of his departure for a two months' trip to the Pacific coast and the Hawaiian Islands, Hon. John J. Lentz made public his views and attitude on the United States senatorship contest which soon will be on in Ohio.

Mr. Lentz announces his candidacy for this high and important place in his usual unequivocal and straight from the shoulder style.

He will visit every county in Ohio during the canvass and afford every voter an opportunity to meet and discuss the needs and desires of the people of Ohio.

His well-known friendliness, to say the least, for the laboring man, for the struggling masses as well as his well-poised and friendly views on the

when it was very unpopular to do so and when it cost me many clients and many friends and brought me much abuse in the subsidized newspapers of the country.

"Twenty years ago the income tax was unconstitutional; the high tariff that made millionaires at the expense of the laboring classes was considered good government; the election of a United States senator by the people was anarchistic; public ownership of public utilities was a dream and the publicity of campaign contributions before the election was a joke; currency reform was denounced as repudiation and national dishonor.

"I have lived to help put all these reforms on the statute books. In ancient times to be a Roman was greater than to be a king. Today there is more honor in having been a pioneer progressive than in being a stand-pat ex-president.

"I have stood with Bryan in all his campaigns for progressive legislation. I was one of the first to advocate government ownership of the telegraph, and while in congress advocated what Postmaster General Burleson now recommends.

"I have an ambition to sit in the United States senate and help write and enact into law some of the things which the people are demanding and for which we pioneer progressives have been so long fighting.

"I believe in the wisdom, the honesty and the aristocracy of the common people. I have always believed the voters of Ohio should elect their senators by direct vote. When I return I propose to meet and address the people in every county of the state, if necessary, and tell them what I stand for, what I have stood for and what I shall stand for if elected. I will meet any opponent for nomination or election in joint debate at any time and place he may

PARLIAMENT FACES PERPLEXING WORK

By Associated Press.

London, Feb. 9.—After the longest vacation that members have enjoyed since the Liberal Party came into power eight years ago, Parliament reassembles tomorrow for a session that promises to be full of hard work and excitement.

There are not only Home Rule and Welsh Disestablishment Bills, which come up for third passage and then become a law despite anything the Lords may do, but there is a great mass of other business which will compel the Government to fight continuously to hold the confidence of the House of Commons. From start to finish of a session the British Government must keep on the alert to prevent an adverse vote, which if it has the backing of a majority of the members, means the retirement of the ministry. The danger will be more acute than ever during this session.

From the moment that King George leaves the House of Lords after delivering his speech from the throne opening the proceedings, the Government will be under fire, not only from their Unionist opponents, but on several questions from Liberals as well. Fortunately for the Government it probably will have the support of many Unionists on the questions that the revolting Radicals will choose for their attacks.

CURTIS WILL HAVE SOME COMPETITION

New York, Feb. 9.—The aero clubs of America, France and Great Britain have under consideration now the proposition of organizing an aeroplane race from Newfoundland to Ireland, as a result of Rodman Wanamaker's announced plan of co-operating with Glenn Curtiss to build a machine for transatlantic flight. The fact that numerous other attempts both here and abroad are under way to make a satisfactory water flying machine to capture the Lord Northcliffe prize of $50,000 has made this plan necessary to secure the safety of the aviators and the success of the venture.

Since the first announcement of Mr. Wanamaker's intention at least six other efforts have been uncovered. In New York city three large water flying machines have been financed and actual construction on these is either already under way or contemplated for the immediate future. In France three more are under construction to compete with the transatlantic expedition planned by Mr. Wanamaker. It is the belief of airmen here that still others are being considered.

BODIES LOST

Washington, Feb. 9.—The American party sent for the purpose of succoring or recovering the bodies of seven American citizens said to have been killed by Mexican bandits under Maximilian Castillo at Cumbre tunnel, Mexico, has reported to the state department. Thus far they have not succeeded in locating or recovering the bodies of the Americans.

HOPE TO CRIPPLE FEDERAL LEAGUE

New York, Feb. 9.—Baseball magnates, big and small, will confer here this week, and before they finish they profess to believe that the Federal league movement will be snuffed out or crippled in such a manner that it can not survive.

The International league convened today for the annual schedule meeting at the Hotel Victoria. The National league will answer the call of the president, Governor John K. Tener, at the Waldorf tomorrow, ostensibly for adopting the playing dates. Wednesday the American league, with President Ban Johnson in the chair, will meet at the Biltmore hotel. Probably on Thursday the club owners of the National and the American leagues will hold a joint conference with the national commission.

The big fellows in organized baseball have been working on a plan to "take care" of Charles Weeghman of Chicago. The plan, if adopted, will enable Weeghman to operate another club in the Windy City in the American association, with grounds on the North Side. Another plan involves the formation of a new major league, to be operated under the protection of organized baseball, to solve the problem. To provide players for this new circuit it will be suggested that each major league club reduce its number of men from 25 to 20, thereby setting aside 80 players for the use of the new clubs.

Tomorrow is the last discount day on gas and electric light bills.

DRESSMAKING

I have again resumed my dress-making with new line of models and designs. I have also secured a first-class assistant and will be glad to see all my old and many new patrons.

RILLA COFFMAN, 355 EAST ST

rights and best interests of the business man, the banker and the farmer, need hardly be mentioned to call them to mind.

His thousands of friends in the fraternal societies, in the labor unions and in the many organizations for modern progressive and uplift work will no doubt await his return for a more complete statement of his amplified and down-to-the-minute views on the questions for which he has so long and unfalteringly made battle throughout the past two decades. He has been a leading figure in the statesmanship of his state and the nation.

His trip abroad will afford him time to prepare himself to analyze national and state affairs from the larger viewpoint, and his return in April will find him equipped to enter the field in an effort to aid in the excellent work already being done by President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan.

Mr. Lentz, before leaving said: "I am going to the Pacific coast and the Hawaiian Islands in the interest of the American Insurance Union as its National President, and in the interest of the Loyal Order of Moose as one of its Mooseheart Governors, and expect to combine business with pleasure and get a much-needed rest afforded by ocean travel and in enjoying the oceanic climate of the islands.

"I expect to return much rested and invigorated about the last of March, at which time I shall make a further announcement of my candidacy for the United States senatorship. The people of the state and the nation know where I stand and have stood in public questions for the past 20 years. I stood for progressive ideas select. The people have a right to and should examine their candidate for the United States senatorship just the same as they examine their teachers for the public schools."

CHEAP FUEL PROMISED.

Professor Adrian Predicts New Use For Prickly Cactus.

Hope for cheaper fuel for the automobile was given to users of gasoline pleasure cars by Professor Henry A. Adrian in a lecture at Des Moines, Ia. He believes that the cacti in the southwestern states will furnish the fuel for the automobile in the future.

Referring to the possibilities of the great American desert, Professor Adrian said that 400 tons of cattle fodder, having 60 per cent the feeding value of Alfalfa, can be produced to the acre. Besides being of value as a cattle feed it will produce sugar of equal quality with the best cane sugars. If there is sugar in it then there is alcohol, and when the gasoline trust puts the price of that article out of reach the cars of the future will be run by the cactus alcohol, he said.

The cactus also produces apples which are food possibilities.

There are several bands of the Persian fat-tailed sheep on the national forests of southern Utah. The large, fat tail sometimes weighs as much as 40 pounds, and, like the hump on the camel, is a reserve supply of nourishment when food is lacking.

American salmon in fresh waters of Tasmania increased in weight from two ounces to four pounds in 21 months.

WORM IN HEAD CAUSES DEATH

Pennsburg, Pa., Feb. 9.—A tiny worm in his ear caused the death of Monroe Ward, 9, son of Mrs. Rosa Ward of Spinnerstown, near here. Three years ago, while the boy was sleeping under a tree near the house, the worm crawled into his ear. The same evening the boy complained of a pain, and insisted that something was "eating" in his head. A physician was called and the boy was kept upon a pillow of earth for four weeks in an effort to coax the worm out of the ear, but without avail. Total blindness soon followed. An x-ray photograph revealed the worm deep in the lad's head. The worm was finally removed by means of alcohol injections, but the boy grew steadily worse and death followed.

CLAYTON HAS DIFFICULT JOB

Starts Framing Bill Prohibiting Holding Companies.

NEW LIGHT ON THE SITUATION

Judiciary Committee Learns That There Are "Good and Bad Holding Companies" and That Congress Would Stir Up Mischief If a Legal Prohibition Were Applied to All Alike.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The administration bill prohibiting "holding companies" will be presented to the house this week or early next. The measure is being whipped into shape by Chairman Clayton and Democratic members of the committee on the judiciary.

The task of framing this bill, regarded as the most important feature of the administration's program of anti-trust legislation, is a very difficult one, according to Chairman Clayton. Lawyers in whom the committee has confidence have told the subcommittee that there are "good holding companies and bad" and that congress would stir up great mischief if a legal prohibition were applied to all alike.

For this reason Chairman Clayton and the other members of the subcommittee are working with great deliberation on the bill dealing with the supposed evils in the holding company system. They have practically reached the conclusion that in correcting the evils alleged, the discretionary power to separate the good from the bad should be lodged in some federal bureau or commission.

Members of the judiciary committee say it will be exceedingly difficult to frame a law unless discretion is lodged in some administrative body defining the sort of holding company that is legal and the sort that is illegal.

A resolution to provide for a constitutional amendment extending suffrage to women is first on the calendar of business in the senate. Senator Ashurst, who is guiding the destinies of the resolution, does not expect it to come soon to a vote, because several senators served him with notice some time ago that when the subject did come up they would like to discuss it. "I am quite certain," he said, "that the senate will vote on it before long; some time this season, at any rate."

Several weeks ago the resolution was reached when no one was expecting it and the Arizona senator reached the senate chamber just in time to speak on the subject himself and ask that it be reserved for future action.

Abraham Lincoln and the Slum Children

THROUGHOUT his life, that was marked by many sorrows, Abraham Lincoln frequently expressed his sympathy, deep and sincere, for the poor and downtrodden. It was his feeling for the slave that set his feet first in the path which led him to the presidency and to martyrdom. In New York city, during the visit which included the making of the famous speech in Cooper institute, he came most closely into contact with the very poor. The meeting took place in February, 1860. Its story is told as follows in "The Everyday Life of Abraham Lincoln."

It appears that on the Sunday which Mr. Lincoln spent in New York city he visited a Sunday school in the notorious region called Five Points and there made a short address to the scholars. After his return to Springfield one of his neighbors, hearing of this, thought it would be a good subject for bantering Mr. Lincoln about and accordingly visited him for that purpose. This neighbor was generally known as "Jim," just as Lincoln was called "Abe."

The following account of Jim's visit, furnished by Edward Eggleston, shows that he did not derive as much fun from the bantering as he had expected: "He started for 'Old Abe's' office, but, bursting open the door impulsively, found a stranger in conversation with Mr. Lincoln. He turned to retrace his steps, when Lincoln called out, 'Jim, what do you want?' 'Nothing,' 'Yes, you do. Come back.' After some entreaty Jim approached Mr. Lincoln and remarked, with a twinkle in his eye: 'Well, Abe, I see you have been making a speech to Sunday school children. What's the matter?' 'Sit down, Jim, and I'll tell you about it.' And with that Lincoln put his feet on the stove and began:

"When Sunday morning came I didn't know exactly what to do. Washburne asked me where I was going. I told him I had nowhere to go, and he proposed to take me down to the Five Points Sunday school to show me something worth seeing. I was very much interested by what I saw. Presently Mr. Pease came up and spoke to Mr. Washburne, who introduced me. Mr. Pease wanted us to speak. Washburne spoke and then I was urged to speak.

 "I remembered that Mr. Pease said they were homeless and friendless, and I thought of the time when I had been pinched by terrible poverty. And so I told them that I had been poor; that I remembered when my toes stuck out through my broken shoes in winter; when my arms were out at the elbows; when I shivered with the cold. And I told them there was only one rule. That was always do the very best you can. I told them that I had always tried to do the very best I could, and that if they would follow that rule they would get along somehow. That was about what I said.
 "And when I got through Mr. Pease said it was just the thing they needed. And when the school was dismissed all the teachers came up and shook hands with me and thanked me for it."

 "Just here Mr. Lincoln put his hand in his pocket and remarked that he had never heard anything that touched him as had the songs which those children sang. With that he drew forth a little book, remarking that they had given him one of the books from which they sang. He began to read a piece with all the earnestness of his great earnest soul.

"In the middle of the second verse his friend Jim felt a choking in his throat and a tickling in his nose. At the beginning of the third verse he saw that the stranger was weeping and his own tears fell fast. Turning toward Lincoln, who was reading straight on, he saw the great, blinding tears in his eyes, so that he could not possibly see the pages. He was repenting that little song from memory. How often he had read it or how long its sweet and simple accents continued to reverberate through his soul no one can know."

London's Lincoln Memorial.

The suggestion of a Lincoln memorial in London in celebration of the 100 years' peace recalls the fact that the great liberator is already commemorated in the British capital by the Lincoln tower at Christchurch.

The tower, 200 feet high, was built by Americans at the close of the civil war in appreciation of the sympathy extended by the Rev. Newman Hall and his congregation to the northern cause when public opinion in England was almost entirely on the side of the south. The stars and stripes are wrought in the stonework of the tower and the British lion and American eagle adorn it.

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT OHIO

[BY CHARLES E. CHIDESTER

JOSEPH VANCE, FATHER OF THE GOOD ROADS MOVEMENT IN OHIO

The father of the good roads movement in Ohio was Joseph Vance. Vance at the age of 19, with his father, migrated to Urbana from his birthplace in Washington, Pa., in 1805, and at once took an active part in public matters. Before and during the war of 1812, he was an officer in the militia, was elected to the general assembly in 1812, to congress in 1820 to 1836 and governor in 1837 and 1851. During the constitutional convention of 1851 Vance was stricken with apoplexy and died a year later.

Vance earned his title as father of good roads in 1827, when as a member of the United States house of representatives, he advocated the repair and extension of the National road, then called the Cumberland road through some of the states of the west, including Ohio.

His plan met with opposition and a hot debate was precipitated. Vance waxed vehement in his speech and would have been called upon to settle according to the "Code" in effect at that time as the final court of arbitration of all questions unsettled on the rostrum, but for the fact that he was a crack shot with a rifle which he, challenged, undoubtedly would have chosen. Nothing was ever said to him after that about fighting.

Governor Vance also might have been called the "overall" governor. He disliked the conventional black broadcloth of public office and no sooner did he arrive at his farm than he laid it aside for a pair of overall trousers and a blouse in which he worked and visited among his constituents.

Governor Vance, when attending to his official duties, always wore a standing linen collar, fitting him so loosely around the neck that it came flush with the end of his chin and a black necktie.

What he lacked in training as a debater he made up in simplicity and it is said of him that in the heat of the debate he cast aside all conventionalities of expression and employed the style of language of the most unassuming men.

The grave and monument of Governor Vance is near that of Simon Kenton, in Oakdale cemetery, Urbana.

FOUR IMPORTANT ARRESTS MADE

Two Men Arrested for Theft of $40 Worth of Pelts and Man and Woman Arrested for Statutory Offense.

ONE MAN ESCAPES IS STILL AT LARGE

Police Have Evidence Which May Result in Additional Arrests at Any Time, It Is Claimed—Mayor Coffey Performs First Marriage This Afternoon.

The police and Mayor Coffey were kept busy for several hours Saturday night, with the result that four arrests were made and information unearthed which may be used to advantage in more arrests a little later on.

The first arrests were made early Saturday evening. When Arthur O'Neill and William Dudley were apprehended for the theft of about $40 worth of pelts or furs which belonged to Isaac Lough, and which had been kept in the Dahl barn near the Cox livery barn.

Evidence secured pointed to the guilt of the two men, and Alf Skidmore, and the police rounded up the first two, but Skidmore eluded the officers and escaped.

One of the pair was arrested at the home of Mary Howell, in the gas house neighborhood. Both admitted to the police, it is claimed, that they had a hand in the theft of furs. Their confession is also said to have implicated Skidmore.

After a search was made at the Central House to locate Skidmore, and he was not apprehended, the officers returned to the Howell residence. They were informed that the man was not about, and the woman told the police to investigate.

The officers went through the house and in an upstairs room found two persons, giving the name of Mary Dudley, a daughter of Mrs. Howell, and Ted Pierson. They were asleep when the officers found them. Later they agreed to secure a license and be married if punishment was not meted out to them, and later they appeared before Mayor Coffey who tied the nuptial knot.

Dudley and O'Neill were placed in the county jail, and have retained an attorney to represent them. It is understood that one of them will fight the charges against them.

The stolen pelts were found at the residence of Mat Myers, 175 Market street, and Myers had purchased them for the sum of $18.

In speaking of the Dudley-Pierson affair, Chief Moore said:

"Such conduct will not be tolerated in Washington, and we expect to make additional arrests for similar offenses within a short time. We have evidence that may result in the arrest of a number of persons who have been winking at the law."

DEAD IN OFFICE

By Associated Press. Logan, Ohio, February 9.—Judge Virgil Lowery, of the Common Pleas court of Hocking county, was found dead in his office today.

The Flag. On June 14, 1777, the Continental congress resolved that the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, and that the Union be thirteen white stars on a blue field. On Jan. 13, 1794, by an act of congress, the flag was altered to fifteen red and white stripes and fifteen stars. On April 4, 1818, congress again altered the flag by returning to the original thirteen stripes and fifteen stars, as the adding of a new stripe for each additional state would soon make the flag too large. A new star is added to the flag on July 4 following the admission of each new state.—New York American.

U.S. MEAT SUPPLY UNEQUAL TO NEED

Eight Reasons Given For Existing Conditions.

MUST IMPORT SMALL PART

Supply of Country 13 Per Cent Less Than Demand—18,259,000 More Animals Needed For 1914, Houston Asserts—Experts Now at Work Attempting to Solve Difficult Problem.

Washington.—Not enough meat will be produced in the United States this year to supply the population, says a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture, which estimates the supply of food animals to be 18,259,000 short.

Another bulletin says "Intense competition" exists in the distribution of wheat and flour from the farmer to the consumer.

Changes in the price of flour, the department says, do not always follow immediately changes in the price of wheat, but middlemen get smaller profits when wheat is high.

The bulletin on the meat supply fulfills predictions made by experts throughout the country several years ago—that the day when the production would not equal the demand was approaching rapidly.

Unless the people eat less meat, 13 per cent of the amount they would normally consume in 1914 must come from abroad.

Eight reasons are given for the shortage, which, it is said, will be more closely investigated by the committee recently appointed by Secretary Houston to study the economics of the meat situation. The reasons are:

The encroachment of farms on the range territory.

The lack of a proper range leasing law, permitting economical management and utilization of ranges.

The shortage in the corn and forage crops due to the severe drought in Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma in 1913, which caused the farmers in those states to dispose of their land at animals.

The increase in the value of land and the increased cost of labor and stock feed, resulting in greatly increased cost of production.

The decline in stock raising on farms in the east and south because of poor marketing facilities, resulting from many local slaughtering establishments having been driven out of business by the competition of the great central slaughtering establishments of the west and central west.

The temptation to sell live stock at the prevailing high prices rather than to continue to carry it with high priced stock feed, possible loss from disease or accident, and uncertain prices the following year.

Enormous losses from hog cholera.

The competition of higher prices for other farm products.

Figured on the basis of each 100 of the total estimated population and compared with conditions in 1910, the bulletin estimates the shortage amounts to almost nine cattle, seven sheep and three hogs.

At the same time the report cites that the actual value of the meat animals on the farms is greater in the aggregate than it was in 1910.

The bulletin relative to wheat and flour says middlemen are content with somewhat smaller profits when wheat is high than when it is low, but it is the refusal of housewives to stick to any particular brand of flour that keeps the grocer from making big profits and furnishes the competition.

The bulletin shows that when in March, 1906, the farmer was getting 64 cents a bushel on all grades of wheat at the elevator, the margin of profit between that figure and what the consumer paid for patent flour made from a bushel of wheat was approximately 20 cents, whereas in October, 1911, when the price of wheat at the farm was 97.8 cents a bushel the margin of profit to the grain elevator, the railroad, the grain jobber or commission man, the flour mill, the flour jobber or wholesale grocer, and the grocer was but 6 cents a bushel.

FREE SEEDS ARE READY TO FORWARD

The allotment of seeds to a congressman permits him to send to but a small per cent of his constituents. For example to this district of three hundred thousand people are given only twenty-two thousand packets. In my efforts to cover the district I have had to adopt some plan to make the allotment reach the widest territory. Any method will permit some to go where they are not specially appreciated, while others desirous to have them will not be reached. Any plan adopted for the distribution under the present system will seem to discriminate in some degree. Knowing that it would be impossible to supply all I have had the seeds allotted to me sent to every other name on the mailing list. It will be understood that I would be glad to have those in my district who really wish me to send them seeds to write me, and I will send them to the extent of my allotment. Those who receive seeds and can not use them will confer a favor upon me by turning them over to some one who can use them.

Yours very truly,
S. D. FESS.

Knew Them at Once. The vicar appointed to a living in an old English village was anxious to restore his church. On either side of the porch were grotesque, not to say hideous, faces that had become almost hidden. The vicar had these ancient faces worked up until their features were made distinct. Then he took a very old lady of the parish to see them and jokingly asked if she could tell him who they were. "Why, bless my heart, sir," said she, peering at the old ornaments, "it's you and your good lady!"

Motion Picture Actors.

When an actor or actress from the regular stage obtains a good position with a picture firm he or she rarely wishes to get back to the footlights. One reason why artists prefer picture work is that performing for the camera is much less tiring than legitimate acting, although, of course, it contains considerable more risk. Then the work is varied. It permits them to have the evenings for their own amusement, and, the greatest boon of all, it is constant. A salary every week for fifty-two weeks of the year appeals to people who are accustomed to a three months' unpaid "rest" each year.—London Express.

MAIL PLAN TO AID CONSUMER.

Burleson to Give Him Direct Access to the Farmer.

Washington.—The recent decision of the house committee on agriculture to ask for $194,000 instead of $94,000 to maintain the new division of markets in the department of agriculture makes known the plan of Postmaster General Burleson to use the division of markets and the parcel post to bring farmers and consumers together, with a view to lowering the cost of living.

Circulars are to be distributed along rural free delivery routes telling the farmers of the trade opportunity offered by the postal service. These circulars will ask the farmers to record their names and addresses at convenient postoffices and then periodically file statements of the produce they wish to market and the price. The circulars will also contain information as to packing perishable products for shipment. These data will be classified and distributed among consumers in bulletin form.

The department of agriculture officials are at work on practical phases of this plan of distribution. The extra $100,000 which the agricultural committee has agreed to give is to be used to teach the farmers how to get and hold city trade.

SUIT IN SUM OF $10,630 FILED

Masonic Temple Company Files Suit Against Contractor Who Is Alleged to Have Violated Contract—Surety Co. and Firms Furnishing Material for Masonic Temple Made Defendants—Claim Contractor Violated Many Provisions of Contract.

Judgment in the sum of $10,630.09 together with other relief is asked in a suit filed in Common Pleas court Monday noon, by Attorney E. L. Bush representing The Masonic Temple Company of this city.

The suit is against Contractor E. E. Bope, his sureties, The Southern Surety Company, of St. Louis, and several manufacturing concerns, the latter being asked to set up their claims aggregating some $9,300.

In brief the plaintiffs allege that the contract for building the new Masonic Temple was awarded to Bope May 31, 1912, for the sum of $39,226.29, and surety in the sum of $13,792 was filed June 12, 1912.

The contractor was to finish the first floor and basement by September 15, 1912, and the remainder by February 15, 1913. A penalty of $15 per day for each day after the date the building was to be finished, until it was completed, was provided. The sum of $3495 is asked because of the delay after the date agreed upon had elapsed.

The contract provided that experienced and proper workmen were to do the work, and that proper materials were to be used. It further provided that the plaintiffs might take the contract off the contractors hands if he failed to comply with the provisions of the contract.

After repeated complaints had been made to the contractor and his surety, because of failure to do the work properly and in the time agreed upon the plaintiffs assumed management of the work on May 6, 1913, and completed the work. The amount paid the contractor was $34,351.95. The surety company failed to take up the work as they are alleged to have agreed to do.

In completing the building the company paid out $12,652.52. Bope had paid out $553 for extras, and the balance due him was $4,874.34. The company paid out $10,630.09 in excess of the amount provided for in the contract, and damages in that amount are asked.

Plaintiffs ask that the other defendants claiming a lien, be required to set up their lien.

IRISH FARMER WINS POINT

By Associated Press.

London, England, Feb. 9.—Printed notice on a steamship ticket exempting the company from liability for loss by a passenger, even through neglect of the company, does not absolve the company from liability, according to a ruling of the Court of Appeals today.

Such a condition is illegal, the court held in a test case filed by an Irish farmer to collect damages for the loss of his son on the Titanic.

MAYOR TO APPOINT STREET DRESS CENSOR.

Elkhart, Ind., Feb. 9.—Mayor Smith will select a woman officer who will patrol a beat and who will be charged with the special duty of bringing before the mayor for reprimand the young women whose style of dress does not meet with approval. The mayor is taking radical measures to suppress what he terms an evil by compelling women to wear less suggestive gowns on the street or in social gatherings. He believes he will be able to mitigate this evil by having a woman especially detailed for the purpose.

NATIONAL ISSUE IN PROHIBITION DISTURBS LEADERS

Washington, Feb. 9.—The spread of the prohibition sentiment in the United States in the last year has made a deep impression on leaders in congress. In fact many of the leaders already see the prohibition question looming up as a national issue. They fear the time is nearing when a constitutional amendment providing for national prohibition will be submitted by congress to a referendum of the states. Such an amendment is now pending in both the house and the senate, and the promotion of it through congress is the accomplishment toward which all the anti-ruin forces are looking most hopefully.

It has long been a matter of comment in Washington that the only way in which temperance legislation can be prevented in congress is by holding the bills in committee and keeping them from the floor of the house or senate.

The passage of the Jones-Works excise law for the District of Columbia and the enactment of the Webb-Kenyon law to prohibit the shipment of liquor into prohibition territory for sale were regarded by the temperance crusaders as red-letter events on their last year's calendar.

The ease with which the passage of the laws has been obtained has left its impression on congress too. Few members dared to oppose them in the open.

BIG BANKING HOUSE FAILURE IN DIXIE

By Associated Press.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 9.—Ten Directors of the Mercantile Bank, one of the most important financial institutions in the city, today filed a petition in Chancery Court, charging that the bank was insolvent, as the result of the alleged misapplication of more than $750,000 by C. Hunter Raine, President of the institution. In the petition Raine was held solely responsible for the apparent shortage, which, it is charged, he obtained "by a system of handling drafts, property and exchange in such a way as to deceive the directors and to conceal his manipulations." The total amount, it is alleged, he lost in speculation.

The petition places the liability of the bank at approximately $2,196,894, with assets of $1,408,089. It was stated that President Raine absolved all of the officials and directors of the bank of implication in the alleged shortage and tendered his personal estate, which he valued at $350,000, to the bank. He has made no formal statement.

Raine was charged with embezzlement in a warrant sworn out today by Z. N. Estes, county attorney general.

CHILLICOTHE WOMAN CINCINNATI SUICIDE?

By Associated Press.

Cincinnati, Ohio, February 9.—Police and Coroner Foertmeyer today were investigating the death of a woman giving her name as Mrs. Margaret Wagner, 21, laundress, who drank poison in a flat building last night and died several hours after. Two men, one of whom gave the name of John Krisler, and the other Cleveland Turney, accompanied the woman to the hospital in a patrol wagon, but left the hospital without giving the attendants any information about the case. The woman in charge of the flat building said Mrs.

Wagner rented the flat three weeks ago, saying she and her husband had just come from Chillicothe, Ohio.

The mystery surrounding the identity of the woman was somewhat dispelled by Mrs. Hannah Jackson, of Charleston, W. Va., who identified the remains as those of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret H. Wagner, who lived with her husband, Herbert L., at Charleston until five weeks ago, when she came to Cincinnati and took work in a laundry. Mrs. Wagner jointly occupied a flat on Mound street with Mr. Kestler, a cousin and his wife.

FIGHTING TO OBTAIN EXCLUSIVE NEWS OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

By Associated Press.

Washington, February 9. — The Associated Press, the greatest news organization in the world, is again the object of attack as an alleged trust or monopoly. This time the complaint is made by the New York Sun, which, maintains an opposition news service. The Sun has asked Attorney General McReynolds to institute a suit against the Associated Press under the Sherman law. The Sun cannot become a member of the Associated Press, and it contends that, in spite of its opposition, it should have the right to buy the news obtained by the Associated Press. The officers of the Associated Press have informed the attorney general that any information in their possession regarding the Associated Press will be cheerfully placed at his disposal.

The Associated Press never sleeps. Wherever throughout the world there may be news there will be a representative of the Associated Press ready to gather it and forward it by wireless or cable or telegraph or telephone to the Washington Daily Herald and its hundreds of other members. Time and again disgruntled newspapers have appealed to the courts as has the New York Sun, but the courts have held that there is a property right in news and that the Associated Press has the power to protect this right by suitable rules to prevent non-members obtaining the information, just as the Washington Daily Herald has a property right in the information gathered by its reporters and need not divulge it before publication to other papers. The Associated Press is a mutual and co-operative association of newspapers in the United States formed for the purpose of gathering and distributing to its members news collected by its members or its agents.

In its charter it is specifically set forth that it is not formed to make a profit nor to make or declare dividends; that it is not to engage in the business of selling intelligence or trafficking in the same.

There are about 900 newspapers in the association, each of which contributes to the common budget of news and pays its share of the organization's expenses.

XENIANS INTERESTED IN NEW INVENTION

For some time past a number of local men have been quietly working on a proposal which comes to them from the inventor of a wheat shocking attachment for self-binder reapers—an appliance which will greatly simplify and reduce the work of harvesting wheat by dumping the shocks where they should stand in the field without the necessity of two men following the reaper for the purpose of shocking. In view of the great scarcity of harvest hands each season, especially in the west and northwest, there is great necessity for a machine of this kind, and the invention in question appears to do the work in a satisfactory manner.

Negotiations have now reached the point where there is a definite understanding with the inventor, and as soon as certain details can be arranged the work of organizing a Xenia company will be taken up.

Experienced farm machinery men have examined the invention and believe that it will prove a success, and they say there is a great opportunity for it. It can be manufactured easily and cheaply, and the intention is to make a few hundred of them experimentally, and if they take with the trade, the business will be pushed vigorously.

There is an opportunity in this for the people of Xenia. If this invention proves the success its friends believe it will be, it would mean the establishment here of an enormous factory.—Xenia Republican.

FLOODS FEARED

Washington, Feb. 9. — Financial starvation has halted the efforts of the national drainage congress to guard against a recurrence of the floods which damaged the middle western and southern states last year. Edmund T. Perkins, president of the congress, notified Ernest P. Bicknell, national director of the Red Cross society, of his inability to launch operations because of lack of funds, and warned the Red Cross to be prepared to cope again in a few weeks with flood havoc such as that of last year, which cost the American people nearly 1,000 lives and property to the extent of $200,000,000. Mr. Perkins declared that the abnormal winter, with light snowfall, gives ground to expect the Red Cross will again be sent to the alleviation of "disasters which the American public has not yet decided to avert."

CLAIM SURVEY MADE FOR ROAD

Claiming that the C. & O. railroad is after the D. T. & I., or part of it at least, the Chillicothe News-Advertiser has the following to say about the road and its plans:

"Recently in the reorganization of the D. T. & I. the N. & W. is known to have made an offer for the purchase of a large part of the stock of that road, but about that time a receivership was declared and the matter was dropped for the time being. After three receivers had been appointed and each one at different times had resigned or given up the job for some cause, the son of president Johnson of the N. & W. railroad was appointed to manage the affairs of the D. T. & I. and he has been so doing ever since that time.

Old Survey Made.
"Some two or three years ago a survey was made of the country from Bainbridge through to this city, the survey as it happened, coming down Arch street to the canal. B. & O. officials even have admitted that such a course would be most desirable right of way for any sort of railway line to the westward.

"With the son of the president of the N. & W. railway company in charge of the D. T. & I. which has a good roadbed all the way from Bainbridge to the Lakes and with the N. & W.'s well known desire for an outlet in that direction, together with the surveys and proposals now being made for a connecting link between the two, some idea of what the plans of the N. & W. officials call for may be had.

C. & O. In On Deal.
"As published in the News-Advertiser some time ago, the C. & O. railway company, another road seeking an outlet to the Lakes has offered to purchase sixteen miles of the old canal bed below this city. One twelve mile section of this starts with the corporation line running south. It is also a well known fact that the N. & W. and C. & O. have some sort of working agreement by which the N. & W. is to transport the other's merchandise over its lines to Columbus.

"Now the program which suggests itself is that the C. & O. to help relieve congestion on the Columbus branch is to purchase the old canal bed between this city and Portsmouth. The N. & W. is to secure a connection with the D. T. & I. for the needed outlet to the Great Lakes then with a common agreement the traffic of both roads to either Columbus or the Lakes could be easily taken care of at a minimum expense to each."

FINDS DAUGHTER AFTER FIVE YEARS

Milwaukee, Feb. 9.—John Caster of Detroit, after a five-year search for his daughter, stolen by her mother, found her in charge of the Milwaukee police, following her arrest with her mother for begging on the streets. He will ask the authorities to allow him to take Alice, who is 16, back to Detroit and give her an education.

Caster and his wife were divorced several years ago, but the mother was allowed to see her daughter once a week. Five years ago the two went out for a walk, and the girl was not returned. Detectives were hired, but not until the mother was arrested here, charged with forcing her daughter to beg, was the child located. Caster is said to be a well-to-do business man in Detroit.

SOUTH RICH IN WATER POWER. FAYETTE CHAPTER

Remarkable Development of Resources Told by Geological Survey.

Washington.—The remarkable development of the south's water power resources is told in a statement issued by the federal geological survey. It gives the results of the survey's investigation of practically all the important river basins of the southern states, and daily gauge heights and discharges covering the year 1911 are recorded.

At any reasonable valuation per horsepower, it is stated, the undeveloped power of these streams is an important industrial asset.

In Georgia and the Carolinas more than 100,000 horsepower has been developed and is being used by the cotton mills alone, and public service corporations in these three states are today developing 300,000 to 400,000 additional horsepower to turn the hundreds of mills and light the many towns and cities in the region.

A Bargain.

AFTER FIVE YEARS.

Winthrop Child Was Restored to Health by Vinol.

"Five years ago our little girl had a severe attack of diphtheria which left her subject to bronchitis and stomach trouble. She has been almost constantly under medical treatment. I have tried also two or three remedies containing cod liver oil but found her stomach rebelled against the oil. Reading your description of Vinol I decided to try it and did so with most astonishing results. I cannot begin to tell you how she has improved because you do not know what a little sufferer she was for five years. She has gained ten pounds since she commenced to take Vinol, and the story of what Vinol has done for her is only half told in this letter." Mrs. Adelaide Mulloy, Winthrop, Mass.

Vinol contains all the healing curative properties of cod liver oil, without the oil, and tonic iron added.

That is why it helped this little girl after other remedies had failed.

We ask mothers of weak, sickly children to try Vinol on our offer to give back your money if it fails to help them. Blackmer & Tanquary, Druggists, Washington C. H., Ohio.

Being Put to the Test

This is a day and an age of regulatory legislation. Today there are in force many laws which only a few short years ago would have been generally conceded to be indirect violation of the constitution both of the state and of the nation. But as time changes, conditions change, and the demands of the public change, and honest, conservative, public opinion is, after all, the court of last resort on the question as to whether legislation violates the constitutional provisions. The constitution of the United States is the fundamental law of the land. No state of the union, no matter what its particular constitution permits, can enact any legislation which violates any of the constitutional rights of the people of that state or of any other state as those rights are guaranteed to them in the federal constitution. Constitutional rights, so called, are not rights which the constitution grants to the people—they are only natural rights which the people never transferred to the government by the constitution. The right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are among the natural rights which the people of this land have always retained and these rights cannot be taken away or abridged by any legislation by congress or by the legislatures of the state. It should be remembered, however, that these rights only exist in natural persons and are, correctly speaking, natural rights. No corporation, no partnership and no other creature of the law possesses any of these natural rights and consequently the congress of the nation and the legislatures of the state, are free to regulate and control them as they deem proper. These creatures of the law may be regulated and controlled, their powers may be abridged or extended by law as the creating power may decree. More than twenty of the states of the union have enacted regulatory legislation seeking to prevent frauds in the sale of securities and real estate and this legislation, imposing as it does, a burden upon legitimate business abridging in a measure the rights of both natural and legal persons, restricting the liberty of individuals to the extent that it regulates and attempts to control their dealings with each other, is now the subject of contention in the courts. The courts of the several states have announced contradictory conclusions as to the validity of these laws and the several federal courts which have passed on the validity of such laws are not in accord in the decisions announced. It remains for the Supreme court of the United States—the court of last resort—to announce whether the conditions of trade are such as to warrant the legislatures of the several states in adopting these regulatory laws. Courts have held that to insure liberty and protection to the individual the law-making powers could impose whatever burden was necessary upon legitimate business in order that fraud might not stalk abroad and prey upon the unwary and the inexperienced. Has the practice of selling worthless mining stocks and bonds and other securities of no value and farm lands in the uncharted deserts and swamps become so general and so wide-spread that legitimate business—the liberty of the individual—may be burdened with restrictions in order that these frauds may be stopped? Is the legitimate business of the individual being used as a mask with which fraud covers its features, and is the practice so general and so dangerous to the public that courts will take notice of its existence? If the court of last resort finds that such conditions exist then the natural right of the individual may be abridged for the good of the public. That wholesale frauds in the sale of bogus securities and worthless real estate have been rampant no man of experience questions. Millions of hard-earned dollars are taken annually from the pockets of the toilers by designing scoundrels who never do an honest day's work. Can such practices be stopped? The legislatures of twenty odd states have attempted to do so by the enactment of "blue sky" laws. The law-making powers have settled the question so far as they are concerned. Most of these laws seem to meet with public approval—some are entirely too drastic and should fail in the courts for particular reasons. The application of the broad principle of the constitution guaranteeing to the individual the fullest measure of liberty consistent with the right of the whole public, to present conditions must now be announced by the Supreme court and upon that decision depends the validity of this regulatory legislation.

Poetry For Today

VALUE OF MEMORY.

Isn't it funny—
This thing we call money?
It's very much when right in our view;
But, oh, it's that feeling
With which we are dealing
That tells us all the big things it will do.

The round, ringing dollar
Is not worth a "holler"
If you are on board and the ship's
going down.
It never can hold you
If Fate means to scold you.
It only adds weight in helping you
down.

A penny's a penny—
We all long for many;
We judge and are judged by the size
of our "pile."
With it we're respected,
Without it—rejected.
Its tingle and jingle will make the world smile.

It's funny—this money.
We love it like honey;
The more that we get, the more that
we need.
Some nibble and taste it,
Some gobble and waste it,
Some dull all their sense with their
craving of greed.

It buys a pleasure,
It gains us a treasure;
It makes us a god to be envied by
kings;
But when all is over,
And we're neath the clover,
It won't do much good in purchasing
wings.

—By H. G. Williamson.

FEAR TUG LOST

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 9.—Wireless stations along the Atlantic coast are making repeated efforts to locate the naval tug Potomac, which is reported lost in the ice off the coast of Newfoundland. The Potomac left this port several weeks ago to assist fishing craft caught in ice floes off Newfoundland. The tug for a time was in communication with wireless stations, but for over a week nothing has been heard from her. Appeals have been sent broadcast asking all ships to take part in the search. The Potomac, the most powerful tug owned by Uncle Sam, carries a crew of 30 men. She is commanded by Roatswain Wilkinson.

WALSH DENIES CANAL STORY

Free Tolls Plank Not Slipped
In Platform As a Joker.

SAYS BRYAN HELPED DRAFT IT

Secretary of the Resolutions Committee of the Baltimore Convention Takes a Hand in the Controversy Over the Panama Canal Plank. Attempt to Repeal Tolls Legislation Will Stir Up a Big Fuss.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The controversy over the Panama canal free tolls plank in the Baltimore platform is waxing warmer. Some of Secretary of State Bryan's friends have intimated that the free tolls plank was smuggled into the platform and that Mr. Bryan, who was chairman of the resolutions committee at the Baltimore convention, knew nothing about it until later. Chairman Adamson of the house committee on interstate commerce charged, in effect, that the plank had been slipped in as a joker and that neither the resolutions committee nor the Democratic convention approved it with a full understanding of what had been done.

Senator Walsh of Montana, who was a member of the resolutions committee and secretary as well, gave out a statement in which he says that Mr. Bryan not only assisted in the preparation of the free tolls plank to the Democratic platform, but suggested a modification, which was agreed to before the plank was approved. Senator Walsh, as secretary of the committee, put the views of the subcommittee into writing. His recollection of the preparation and adoption of the canal tolls plank was very clear, he said. There was no objection to it in the subcommittee or in the full resolutions committee. A subcommittee of four reported the canal tolls plank, which included Mr. Bryan, Senators Pomerene and O'Gorman. Senator Walsh declared there was no suggestion that the plank was a joker or that it got into the platform surreptitiously. According to Senator Walsh the free tolls plank was offered by Senator O'Gorman and accepted with very little debate.

It is apparent that the attempt of the president to repeal the canal tolls legislation will stir up a big fuss in congress and that the fight will revolve about the contention that such action will constitute a violation of the platform pledge.

MANNING HELD

Newark, N. J., Feb. 9.—Charles I. Manning remains in jail here while detectives attempt to verify a theory of their own that he met Hazel Herdman, Mrs. Manning's murderess, after the shooting on Friday evening, and assisted her to Bloomfield. Manning asserts his innocence and has denied that he met Miss Herdman. Doctors of the staff of the Mountain-side hospital in Montclair, where Miss Herdman died after having taken poison, say that there was nothing in her farewell letter which connected Manning with the murder.

The year-and-a-half-old boy, Manning's and Miss Herdman's child, is being cared for in Bloomfield by people with whom the mother placed the baby.

HOOSIER DINERS TO CUT ORATORY

New York, Feb. 9.—The annual dinner of the Indiana society and the Daughter of Indiana at the Hotel Astor Feb. 19 will be toastmasterless and speechless. Horace Hurd, secretary of the men's society, said that the Indians want the honor of being the first state society to substitute dancing, auction bridge and vaudeville for long hours of dreary speechmaking. After the 500 or more former residents of Indiana finish a $3.50 dinner they will have several big rooms in the Astor at their disposal for dancing, auction bridge, vaudeville and for relieving thirst.

RACE CLASH FATAL

Americus, Ga., Feb. 9.—Marion Bass, a deputy constable, was killed; Tucker Cassell, constable, seriously wounded; Lou Larramore, deputy constable, painfully wounded, and Edward Tyson, a negro, killed in a battle at a negro settlement near De Soto, 15 miles from his place. Cooper Bivins, another negro, is being pursued by a posse with bloodhounds. It is reported that Bivins is armed. The fight began when officers attempted to arrest several negroes charged with firing on two white men.

By John E. M. Kerr.

May 2, 1872.

Married:—At the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Keen, Mr. Jas. B. Collier to Miss Kate Gordon. Last week the above was handed us but we had neither time nor space in our columns to return thanks to the newly wedded couple for their kind remembrance of this office and we take this opportunity to wish our friend Collier and "darling Kate" all the joys attendant upon mortals here below. May their pathway through life be garlanded with prosperity's most beautiful flowers, may their days be laden with joy and end pass happily into years of great pleasure.

The company present was one of the largest and gayest ever assembled in their place on any occasion. The cakes, ice cream and other good things incident to such gatherings were abundant, and of superior quality. The bride's gifts were numerous, useful, ornamental, valuable and altogether, perhaps, there never was a wedding more universally attended in our town.

The scriptures tell us of a James Who dwelt in Galilee,
And earned an honest livelihood,

The little city of Manchester claims to be the tobacco market that leads all other towns in the state in regard to large sales of the weed. All the tobacco is sold at auction and the many buyers attending Manchester sales assures the sellers the top price for their product.

The Mayors of Ohio cities differ as to what constitutes gambling. In Columbus when Mayor Karb took the lid off dice shaking in cigar stores, etc., the liquor license commission clamped it down tight on shaking the dice in saloons. In Dayton the saloon men themselves put the lid on dice games. In almost all other cities and towns the officials have put the ban on all forms of gambling.

To use in case of emergency the city fire department of Troy has had built three large boats of a type called the "Mississippi River Style." ## UPBRAIDED THE WHOLE OUTFIT

Washington, Feb. 9.—A report on the condition existing in the California hop fields at the time of the fatal riot at Wheatlands was made public by Chairman Frank P. Walsh of the federal commission on industrial relations.

The report, submitted to the commission by Carleton H. Parker, secretary of the California Immigration commission, who was engaged as a special investigator, bitterly attacks conditions in the hop fields, setting forth that wages and living conditions there contribute to the strength of the Industrial Workers of the World "and their revolutionary doctrines."

Chairman Walsh announced that a searching examination of sanitation and wages in camps of migratory laborers will be made by the commission to find out if conditions disclosed in the hop fields exist to any extent in other places.

STEWART HOGS BRING AVERAGE OF $55 EACH

Herd of 57 Pure-Bred Duroc-Jersey Hogs, Offered by Hugh K. Stewart, Set New Record of Values.

$130 PAID FOR THE BEST ANIMAL

Buyers and Breeders From Several States Were in Attendance and the Bidding Was Spirited at All Times.

The Hugh K. Stewart annual sale of immune Duroc bred sows from the Spring Hill Farm held Saturday at the Hess livery barn, proved the greatest of its kind in this section of the country in many a day.

Both foreign and local breeders, attending in large numbers were amazed at the tremendous success of the sale, and the way prices soared beyond all precedent.

The entire sale was a triumph for the breeders and raisers of pure bred stock, in its demonstration of the demand for stock of the highest class, and a special triumph for Mr. Stewart, whose reputation as a breeder of Durocs is always an unquestioned guarantee of the value of the purchase.

An interesting feature of the sale was the statement made by Mr. Geo. Smidley, of New Holland, to the auctioneers, concerning 4 immune Duroc sows bought at Mr. Stewart's October sale. Mr. Smidley has lost 109 hogs with cholera this fall, but the 4 immune Durocs ate and slept with the cholera hogs and never missed a feed.

They are in perfect health and clearly demonstrate that immunizing is the thing to do.

While the largest crowd of foreign breeders ever in attendance at a local hog sale was present, and the bidding was exceedingly lively, this time local buyers were after the cream and the largest number of high class sows were knocked down to them.

The total offering of 57 head averaged $55 a head, a remarkable average.

J. A. Wissler, who is starting a herd at his farm on the edge of Madison county, bid in the choice of the bunch at $130, and six more of the highest priced.

Dr. C. A. Still, head of the Kirksville, Mo., Osteopathic school bought 2 extra good ones to ship to Missouri. Mr. W. A. Bacon, 2 for his plantation in Alabama and other foreign buyers who made fortunate purchases were J. O. Duncan, Lebanon, Ky.; McKee Bros., Versailles, Ky.; F. O. Ford & Son, Greentown, Ind.; Harry Goldman, Middletown, Ind.; Frank Harlow, Dallas, Texas; J. G. Marie, Cincinnati; Ira Jackson, Tippecanoe City; Os Jones, Wilmington; H. M. Peters, Amanda; L. G. Siefert, R. W. Jones, Greenfield; J. N. Carson & Son, East Monroe.

Among the prominent local bidders were Profit and Hunt, who bid in 7 head; J. E. Free, Good Hope, 2 mighty good ones; Geo. McCrea, New Holland; Benton Garringer; Alex. H. Ballard, three that averaged over $80 a head; Harry Brown.

Among the foreign breeders present were S. E. Morton, of Camden, a man who has done more for the red hog breed than any man living; R. C. Watts, Cedarville; Robt. Ewing, of baseball fame, of New Hampshire; Robt. Evans, secretary American Duroc Hog Association; Truax & Son, Sycamore; Thos. Johnson, of Columbus; A. D. Hengst, Nashville, Tenn.; E. K. Morris, of the Swine Breeders' Journal, Indianapolis; W. P. Penery, of the Duroc Bulletin, Peoria, Ill.

The auctioneers, H. L. Inglehart, of Elizabeth, Ky., and Col. M. Engles, of Mt. Sterling, kept the bidding stirred to the liveliest pitch.

as he recovers sufficiently to be removed from the hospital.

From Xenia it is learned that Osgoodby was president of the defunct, J. P. Russell & Company, of Dayton, and was last week secretly indicted for the misappropriation of $13,500.

It is claimed the man was back of several schemes which were decidedly shady, and that he played an important part in the wrecking of the Osborn bank.

It was learned that Osgoodby had been located in Ridgeway, N. J., and a telegram was sent there for the authorities to arrest him. A search revealed the fact that the man was in a critical condition in a hospital at that place.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday night at the Presbyterian church, Rev. W. B. Gage conducted a beautiful service in honor of the great Lincoln.

The church and chancel was elaborately decorated with immense flags and the music was specially appropos.

Mrs. Mary G. Burgett sang a lovely contralto solo.

Rev. Gage delivered an able sermon on "The Religious Aspects of the Life of Lincoln," from which we give a brief excerpt:

"We count it happy to live in a world which looks with a misty and kind eye toward its departed, and at the grave, forsaking all harsh aspersions, speaks only that which is loving and kind. Truly none have benefited more by this trait of human nature, than the subject of our evening sermon, Abraham Lincoln, the martyred and lamented President of the United States. In infancy born to the arms of a beautiful but dying mother; in youth inured to hardship and bitterest poverty, the fortunes of his mature life were far from easy. To his home there came the scorpion of domestic infelicity, while like a shower of poisoned arrows there was ever rained upon him, criticism both unkind and unjust. And these scarified his face with those lines of characteristic sorrow, and drove him for solace to the sunny refuge of a genial humor that will ever be associated with him. Hence the speeding bullet of the assassin was not altogether an evil thing, for it slew this mean spoken villain and vituperation, and trusted his memory to such kindly care, that today with Washington he shares the nation's veneration, and is never spoken of save in words of praise.

If we would understand that rugged honesty that marks, lifts up, and sustains his life as granite does the peak of the mountain, let us remember that the library of his cabin home, contained but two books, the Bible and Bunyan's matchless allegory, Pilgrims Progress. The one strengthened his mind and trust iron into his moral nature; the other thrust color into his imagination, and lent its wings power of flight. Living during his boyhood in close companionship with them, he never was able to separate himself from the spirit of the ancient prophets. While the story of Divine love as recorded in the New Testament, so mellowed his heart and softened his spirit, that he will ever be remembered as one of the kindest of men. Hence when the emancipated slave of Baltimore presented him with a Bible, he gladly inscribed upon its fly leaf this tribute saying, 'It is the best gift which God has given to men; all the good from the Saviours of the world is communicated through this book. Matchless tribute. But how deserved. Truly in the hour of sorrow it was his consolation. In the hour of darkness it was his light. In the hour of weakness it was his source of strength.

"To a friend he writes, 'I am in the garden of Gethsemane and my cup of bitterness is full and overflowing. And I have read on my knees the story of Gethsemane, where the Son of God prayed in vain that the cup of bitterness might pass from him.' And in the perplexing years of the wars closing he writes again, 'I am profitably engaged in the reading of the Bible. Take all this book you can upon reason, and the balance upon faith, and you will live and die a better man.'"

Some ten days ago while leaving his residence on Elm street about 4 o'clock in the morning, and while crossing a large open ditch along Elm street, his horse fell into the ditch, carrying wagon and driver with it. The animal was so badly injured that it was necessary to kill it last week.

Another horse, purchased to pull the mail wagon, picked up a rusty nail a week ago, and blood poisoning developed with the result that the animal died Sunday.

As Mr. Maag can ill afford to lose even one horse, the loss is keenly felt, and to add to his other worries he injured his hand while assisting in loading the last horse into a fertilizer wagon, and now fears blood poison, although he has taken steps to prevent it.

He states that some one is responsible for the open ditch in front of his premises, on Elm street, and that he has secured an attorney to bring suit for damages in an amount sufficient to cover the value of the horse which fell into the ditch and was fatally injured.

COLT RUNS AWAY SMASHES BUGGY

A colt driven by Gilbert Dowler, who lives a few miles outside of this city, broke away while being hitched up in a local livery barn at a late hour Saturday night, and after running at breakneck speed down the street, struck the curb near the D. T. & I. depot, with the result that the rig was completely demolished, and the horse, stripped of buggy and harness, continued on its wild run, being found in Millwood at an early hour Sunday morning.

Some groceries and other articles were picked up by the police and taken to the Mayor's office, and the owner claimed them Sunday. For some little time after the runaway the owner did not know what had become of the horse and buggy.

RABID DOG KILLED AFTER ATTACKING MANY OTHER DOGS

Jeffersonville and vicinity had a real mad dog excitement Sunday, regardless of the fact that many supposed mad dogs existed only in warm weather.

The animal which caused the excitement in and near Jeffersonville gave every indication of having the rabies. It was a medium-sized, black and white animal, which first attracted attention by attacking and biting other dogs.

The dog came from the direction of this city, and was first seen by Lewis Bates, residing between two and three miles south of Jeffersonville on the Washington pike. It bit the Bates dog, and then started toward Jeffersonville. Mr. Bates phoned ahead and a posse greeted the rabid animal when it arrived, showering it with missiles. Two or three shots were fired at it, and it was wounded.

Without making any outcry when wounded, the dog continued on its way pursued by a number of men and boys, most of whom kept at a respectful distance. It attacked and wounded a number of dogs in the neighborhood.

At a point some three miles from Jeffersonville it was shot and killed by Glenn Brock and others, who cornered the brute.

The head will be examined by the State Veterinarian, and it will then be known whether or not the dog was really suffering from hydrophobia as believed. Whether the dog came from this city is not known.

THE MAN WITH THE MESSAGE ADDRESSES LARGE AUDIENCE

Simultaneous Campaign Ends in All Local Churches Except Christian, Where Interest Continues Unabated and Many Nightly Respond to Invitation—Mr. E. S. Lorenz Gives Ten Reasons Why He Is Christian.

(By Hugh C. Weir.)
A remarkable man brought a remarkable message to this city yesterday afternoon. He was E. S. Lorenz, of Dayton, and his message was given under the subject of "Ten Reasons Why a Business Man Should Be a Christian". Mr. Lorenz himself, is one of the most successful and best known business men of Dayton. He has built up a great music publishing firm. And his address was given entirely from standpoint of the hard-headed business man, who looks on the subject of the Christian religion as a business proposition.
Mr. Lorenz spoke at the Sunday afternoon mass meeting of the Simultaneous Evangelistic Campaign at the Grace M. E. church. It had been announced that there would be two such meetings, one for men and one for women. The unexpected absence of Mrs. Romans, however, who had been scheduled to address the women, made it necessary at the last moment to combine the two meetings, with Mr. Lorenz as the principal speaker.
The address of Mr. Lorenz was of the type that should be printed in a large edition and circulated broadcast. It was pertinent, practical, personal, the study of a business man at the biggest subject in the world. Mr. Lorenz did not deal with adjectives, but with tested facts. His address was largely his personal narrative of his own experiences.

"There are ten reasons why as a business man I am a Christian," he said. "I could give you twenty or thirty reasons, but I am going to confine myself to ten." The reasons which Mr. Lorenz advanced were as follows: Because the Gospel of Christ assures me of forgiveness for my sins; because it gives me strength to fight temptation; because it provides the most effective power to drive my physical, mental and spiritual machinery; because it gives me the only real solace in time of trouble and affliction; because it enables me to keep in tune with all of God's great world of infinity; because it gives me ideals and purposes and plans and thoughts, for which I have the most enthusiastic admiration; because it is a religion that from the standpoint of business efficiency really works, really does what it sets out to do; because it provides me with good, inspiring, helpful company; because it gives me a strength and vision that at the end of the journey will rob the grave of its terror; and because from every conceivable viewpoint the Christian religion is right, and it is right that every thinking man should give to it his active, personal, consecrated support."

Mr. Lorenz is the kind of a business man who sees visions beyond the day's work, and who is big enough, and enthusiastic enough, and sincere enough to pass those visions on to others. It is not too much to say that his address was one of the most appealing, and practical of the kind ever given in this city, and it is earnestly hoped that he can be persuaded to speak in this city again in the near future. The world needs more like E. S. Lorenz.
Yesterday marked the closing of the Simultaneous Campaign in all churches except the Christian, where services will continue for another week. It is estimated that the number of conversions in the city and county will total one thousand, although a detailed tabulation has not yet been obtained. The Grace M. E. church announces special meetings for the week preceding Easter. These will be largely of an evangelistic nature, leading up to the Easter service.
H. C. Boblitt will remain another week, and will have charge of the song service at the Christian church. He will also preach several times during the week. This evening he will preach on the subject, "Is Hell a Played-Out Doctrine?"
Services at the Baptist church during the campaign have proven the most successful of any for a number of years at that church, due largely to the practical sermons of Rev. Henry Brandt, and the untiring, ceaseless efforts of the pastor, Rev. A. W. West. At the Grace M. E. church, a class of ninety-two were received into the church yesterday, a class significant for the number of young men and young women. Another class of almost fifty members will shortly be received also.

MRS. DECATUR'S BODY TAKEN TO KENTON

Rev. F. E. Ross conducted a brief funeral service over the remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Decatur at the residence, Saturday evening.
Miss Daisy Cockerill and Mrs. Hugh Weir sang, "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and "Thy Will be Done".
The assemblage of friends mutely voiced the deep sympathy of the community for Dr. Decatur in his great and unexpected sorrow.
There were beautiful flowers, including special designs from the Knights of Pythias, Pythian Sisters, I. O. O. F., Epworth League, Dr. and Mrs. Holley, in Cincinnati.
Dr. Decatur left Sunday morning on the 10:36 for Kenton, taking the remains there for burial. He was accompanied by Mr. George Bybee.
On Saturday night Dr. Decatur received more encouraging word from his wife and started on his sad trip buoyed up by hope for her recovery.

HUMANE SPIRIT IS MANIFESTED

During the bitter cold weather the past two days very few persons driving into the city have left their horses stand upon the streets, and the Humane Officer has been keeping a watch for the careless person who forgets to blanket his horse after hitching it to the rack.
The humane spirit manifested by owners of horses has been pleasing to the Humane Society, and the widespread protection offered to horses in the past few days is due in part to the work of the Humane Society.
The fee for leaving the animals in a warm barn while the owner is shopping, is very small, and the custom of placing the animals in a livery barn is becoming more general.
Meanwhile Humane Officer Gooderl is keeping an eye out for those who neglect to properly blanket their horses in cold weather when they leave them on the streets.

BURGLARS GIVE DIFFERENT NAMES

Leonard Wilson and John Curtis, the two colored men held for burglarizing the Fairview freight house of the C. H. & D., and also for forging checks, when arrested in Chillicothe gave the names of George Lewis and Sidney Beverly.
It is believed the names given in Chillicothe may be their right ones.

***** WHEN LINCOLN FACED A MOB. *****

IT was during a political campaign in Springfield, Ill., before the war that Lincoln protected Edward D. Baker from a mob which threatened to drag him off the stand. "Baker was speaking in a large room," says Arnold, biographer of Lincoln. "rented and used for the court sessions, and Lincoln's office was in an apartment over the courtroom and communicating with it by a trapdoor. Lincoln was in his office listening to Baker through the open trapdoor, when Baker, becoming excited, abused the Democrats, many of whom were present. A cry was raised, 'Pull him off the stand!' The instant Lincoln heard the cry, knowing a general fight was imminent, his athletic form was seen descending from above through the opening of the trapdoor, and, springing to the side of Baker and waving his hand for silence, he said with dignity: 'Gentlemen, let us not disgrace the age and country in which we live. This is a land where freedom of speech is guaranteed. Baker has a right to speak. I am here to protect him, and no man shall take him from this stand if I can prevent it.' Quiet was restored, and Baker finished his speech without interruption."

***** Not What He Meant. *****

"You eat very little, Mr. Smith," said the maiden coyly to the bashful lover who had been invited to share the family holiday dinner. "Yes," replied he, and for once he saw a chance, and, grasping his courage, he said, "To sit next to you, Miss Grace, is to lose one's appetite."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Skirmishing In Progress In the Outskirts of Torreon.

Bridges On the Mexican Central Railroad Burned by Federal Detachments—Search Made For American Victims of the Wreck at Cumbre Tunnel—Huerta Suggests Boycott of American Imports.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 9.—Continuous skirmishing near Torreon between rebels and federal outposts have been in progress for three days, and the Huerta soldiers have been forced back from a point 15 miles west of Torreon to Laredo, about three miles from the city proper. This information was brought to Juarez by Captain Raoul Najera, who comes from Escalon, where the rebel front on the National railway is established. Constitutional troops under the Arista brothers have advanced on Torreon from the west and have pushed their outposts as far as Las Cuevas, within 10 miles of the city. No details of the fighting have reached Escalon, according to Captain Najera. He believes that many lives have been lost, but has no idea of the number. Federal bridge burning detachments have been active north of Torreon during the past week. They have burned bridges on the Mexican Central railway as far north as Coejos, 50 miles above Torreon. The rebel mint in Chihuahua for coinage of gold and silver money will be turning out the coins by the end of this week. Rescuers from El Paso and Juarez have reached Cumbre tunnel to join in the search for the 40 passengers who are thought to have lost their lives on the Mexican Northwestern train wrecked in the tunnel last week. Several high officials of the road are included among the missing. In the south end of the tunnel the rescuing party has already uncovered the locomotive and express car of the passenger train which dashed into the freight train that the bandits had already destroyed by fire at the south mouth of the tunnel. To add to the horror of the situation, the earth slides may fill the tunnel so completely as to prevent recovery of all bodies for many days. It is hoped, though, that these cave-ins will so obstruct the passage of air through the tunnel that the flames will die. With a band of about 800 Castillo started his campaign in the north. He first captured the station of Guzman, and his latest attack was that which resulted in the destruction of two trains of the Northwestern railway in the Cumbre tunnel. Fifty-one passengers and railroad employees, including a number of Americans, are believed to have perished in this disaster. General Villa is seriously alarmed over the advance of Castillo's troops. A force of 300 sent out by Villa last week was destroyed by the bandits.

Stood For Progressive Ideas When It Was Very Unpopular to Do So and When It Cost Him Clients and Friends—Believes in the Wisdom, Honesty and Aristocracy of the Common People.

Columbus, O.—(Special.)—On the eve of his departure for a two months' trip to the Pacific coast and the Hawaiian Islands, Hon. John J. Lentz made public his views and attitude on the United States senatorship contest which soon will be on in Ohio. Mr. Lentz announces his candidacy for this high and important place in his usual unequivocal and straight from the shoulder style. He will visit every county in Ohio during the canvass and afford every voter an opportunity to meet and discuss the needs and desires of the people of Ohio. His well-known friendliness, to say the least, for the laboring man, for the struggling masses as well as his well-poised and friendly views on the

when it was very unpopular to do so and when it cost me many clients and many friends and brought me much abuse in the subsidized newspapers of the country. "Twenty years ago the income tax was unconstitutional; the high tariff that made millionaires at the expense of the laboring classes was considered good government; the election of a United States senator by the people was anarchistic; public ownership of public utilities was a dream and the publicity of campaign contributions before the election was a joke; currency reform was denounced as repudiation and national dishonor. "I have lived to help put all these reforms on the statute books. In ancient times to be a Roman was greater than to be a king. Today there is more honor in having been a pioneer progressive than in being a stand-pat ex-president. "I have stood with Bryan in all his campaigns for progressive legislation. I was one of the first to advocate government ownership of the telegraph, and while in congress advocated what Postmaster General Burleson now recommends. "I have an ambition to sit in the United States senate and help write and enact into law some of the things which the people are demanding and for which we pioneer progressives have been so long fighting. "I believe in the wisdom, the honesty and the aristocracy of the common people. I have always believed the voters of Ohio should elect their senators by direct vote. When I return I propose to meet and address the people in every county of the state, if necessary, and tell them what I stand for, what I have stood for and what I shall stand for if elected. I will meet any opponent for nomination or election in joint debate at any time and place he may

PARLIAMENT FACES PERPLEXING WORK

By Associated Press. London, Feb. 9.—After the long-est vacation that members have enjoyed since the Liberal Party came into power eight years ago, Parliament reassembles tomorrow for a session that promises to be full of hard work and excitement. There are not only Home Rule and Welsh Disestablishment Bills, which come up for third passage and then become a law despite anything the Lords may do, but there is a great mass of other business which will compel the Government to fight continuously to hold the confidence of the House of Commons. From start to finish of a session the British Government must keep on the alert to prevent an adverse vote, which if it has the backing of a majority of the members, means the retirement of the ministry. The danger will be more acute than ever during this session. From the moment that King George leaves the House of Lords after delivering his speech from the throne opening the proceedings, the Government will be under fire, not only from their Unionist opponents, but on several questions from Liberals as well. Fortunately for the Government it probably will have the support of many Unionists on the questions that the revolting Radicals will choose for their attacks.

CURTIS WILL HAVE SOME COMPETITION

New York, Feb. 9.—The aero clubs of America, France and Great Britain have under consideration now the proposition of organizing an aero plane race from Newfoundland to Ireland, as a result of Rodman Wanmaker's announced plan of co-operating with Glenn Curtiss to build a machine for transatlantic flight. The fact that numerous other attempts both here and abroad are under way to make a satisfactory water flying machine to capture the Lord Northcliffe prize of $50,000 has made this plan necessary to secure the safety of the aviators and the success of the venture. Since the first announcement of Mr. Wanmaker's intention at least six other efforts have been uncovered. In New York city three large water flying machines have been financed and actual construction on these is either already under way or contemplated for the immediate future. In France three more are under construction to compete with the transatlantic expedition planned by Mr. Wanmaker. It is the belief of airmen here that still others are being considered.

WORM IN HEAD CAUSES DEATH

Pennsburg, Pa., Feb. 9.—A tiny worm in his ear caused the death of Monroe Ward, 4, son of Mrs. Rosa Ward of Spinnerstown, near here. Three years ago, while the boy was sleeping under a tree near the house, the worm crawled into his ear. The same evening the boy complained of a pain, and insisted that something was "eating" in his head. A physician was called and the boy was kept upon a pillow of earth for four weeks in an effort to coax the worm out of the ear, but without avail. Total blindness soon followed. An x-ray photograph revealed the worm deep in the lad's head. The worm was finally removed by means of alcohol injections, but the boy grew steadily worse and death followed.

rights and best interests of the business man, the banker and the farmer, need hardly be mentioned to call them to mind.

His thousands of friends in the fraternal societies, in the labor unions and in the many organizations for modern progressive and uplift work will no doubt await his return for a more complete statement of his amplified and down-to-the-minute views on the questions for which he has so long and unflinchingly made battle throughout the past two decades. He has been a leading figure in the statesmanship of his state and the nation.

His trip abroad will afford him time to prepare himself to analyze national and state affairs from the larger viewpoint, and his return in April will find him equipped to enter the field in an effort to aid in the excellent work already being done by President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan.

Mr. Lentz, before leaving said: "I am going to the Pacific coast and the Hawaiian Islands in the interest of the American Insurance Union as its National President, and in the interest of the Loyal Order of Moose as one of its Mooseheart Governors, and expect to combine business with pleasure and get a much-needed rest afforded by ocean travel and in enjoying the oceanic climate of the islands.

"I expect to return much rested and invigorated about the last of March, at which time I shall make a further announcement of my candidacy for the United States senatorship. The people of the state and the nation know where I stand and have stood in public questions for the past 20 years. I stood for progressive ideas

CHEAP FUEL PROMISED.

Professor Adrian Predicts New Use For Prickly Cactus.

Hope for cheaper fuel for the automobile was given to users of gasoline pleasure cars by Professor Henry A. Adrian in a lecture at Des Moines, Ia. He believes that the cacti in the southwestern states will furnish the fuel for the automobile in the future.

Referring to the possibilities of the great American desert, Professor Adrian said that 400 tons of cattle fodder, having 60 per cent the feeding value of Alfalfa, can be produced to the acre. Besides being of value as a cattle feed it will produce sugar of equal quality with the best cane sugars. If there is sugar in it then there is alcohol, and when the gasoline trust puts the price of that article out of reach the cars of the future will be run by the cactus alcohol, he said.

The cactus also produces apples which are food possibilities.

There are several bands of the Persian fat-tailed sheep on the national forests of southern Utah. The large, fat tail sometimes weighs as much as 40 pounds, and, like the hump on the camel, is a reserve supply of nourishment when food is lacking.

American salmon in fresh waters of Tasmania increased in weight from two ounces to four pounds in 21 months.

HOPE TO CRIPPLE FEDERAL LEAGUE

New York, Feb. 9.—Baseball magnates, big and small, will confer here this week, and before they finish they profess to believe that the Federal league movement will be snuffed out or crippled in such a manner that it can not survive.

The International league convened today for the annual schedule meeting at the Hotel Victoria. The National league will answer the call of the president, Governor John K. Tener, at the Waldorf tomorrow, ostensibly for adopting the playing dates, Wednesday the American league, with President Ban Johnson in the chair, will meet at the Biltmore hotel probably on Thursday the club owners of the National and the American leagues will hold a joint conference with the national commission.

The big fellows in organized baseball have been working on a plan to "take care" of Charles Weeghman of Chicago. The plan, if adopted, will enable Weeghman to operate another club in the Windy City in the American association, with grounds on the North Side. Another plan involves the formation of a new major league, to be operated under the protection of organized baseball, to solve the problem. To provide players for this new circuit it will be suggested that each major league club reduce its number of men from 25 to 20, thereby setting aside 80 players for the use of the new clubs.

Tomorrow is the last discount day on gas and electric light bills.

CLAYTON HAS DIFFICULT JOB

Starts Framing Bill Prohibiting Holding Companies.

NEW LIGHT ON THE SITUATION

Judiciary Committee Learns That There Are "Good and Bad Holding Companies" and That Congress Would Stir Up Mischief If a Legal Prohibition Were Applied to All Alike.

Washington, Feb. 9.—The administration bill prohibiting "holding companies" will be presented to the house this week or early next. The measure is being whipped into shape by Chairman Clayton and Democratic members of the committee on the judiciary.

The task of framing this bill, regarded as the most important feature of the administration's program of anti-trust legislation, is a very difficult one, according to Chairman Clayton. Lawyers in whom the committee has confidence have told the subcommittee that there are "good holding companies and bad" and that congress would stir up great mischief if a legal prohibition were applied to all alike.

For this reason Chairman Clayton and the other members of the subcommittee are working with great deliberation on the bill dealing with the supposed evils in the holding company system. They have practically reached the conclusion that in correcting the evils alleged, the discretionary power to separate the good from the bad should be lodged in some federal bureau or commission.

Members of the judiciary committee say it will be exceedingly difficult to frame a law unless discretion is lodged in some administrative body defining the sort of holding company that is legal and the sort that is illegal.

A resolution to provide for a constitutional amendment extending suffrage to women is first on the calendar of business in the senate. Senator Ashurst, who is guiding the destinies of the resolution, does not expect it to come soon to a vote, because several senators served him with notice some time ago that when the subject did come up they would like to discuss it. "I am quite certain," he said, "that the senate will vote on it before long; some time this season, at any rate."

Several weeks ago the resolution was reached when no one was expecting it and the Arizona senator reached the senate chamber just in time to speak on the subject himself and ask that it be reserved for future action.

LITTLE STORIES ABOUT OHIO

[By CHARLES E. CHIDESTER

JOSEPH VANCE, FATHER OF THE GOOD ROADS

MOVEMENT IN OHIO

The father of the good roads movement in Ohio was Joseph Vance. Vance at the age of 19, with his father migrated to Urbana from his birthplace in Washington, Pa., in 1805, and at once took an active part in public matters. Before and during the war of 1812, he was an officer in the militia, was elected to the general assembly in 1812, to congress in 1820 to 1836 and governor in 1837 and 1851. During the constitutional convention of 1851 Vance was stricken with apoplexy and died a year later.

Vance earned his title as father of good roads in 1827, when as a member of the United States house of representatives, he advocated the repair and extension of the National road, then called the Cumberland road through some of the states of the west, including Ohio.

His plan met with opposition and a hot debate was precipitated. Vance waxed vehement in his speech and would have been called upon to settle according to the "Code" in effect at that time as the final court of arbitration of all questions unsettled on the rostrum, but for the fact that he was a crack shot with a rifle which he, challenged, undoubtedly would have chosen. Nothing was ever said to him after that about fighting.

Governor Vance also might have been called the "overall" governor. He disliked the conventional black broadcloth of public office and no sooner did he arrive at his farm than he laid it aside for a pair of overall trousers and a blouse in which he worked and visited among his constituents.

Governor Vance, when attending to his official duties, always wore a standing linen collar, fitting him so loosely around the neck that it came flush with the end of his chin and a black necktie.

What he lacked in training as a debater he made up in simplicity and it is said of him that in the heat of the debate he cast aside all conventionalities of expression and employed the style of language of the most unassuming men.

The grave and monument of Governor Vance is near that of Simon Kenton, in Oakdale cemetery, Urbana.

Abraham Lincoln and the Slum Children

THROUGHOUT his life, that was marked by many sorrows, Abraham Lincoln frequently expressed his sympathy, deep and sincere, for the poor and downtrodden. It was his feeling for the slave that set his feet first in the path which led him to the presidency and to martyrdom. In New York city, during the visit which included the making of the famous speech in Cooper institute, he came most closely into contact with the very poor. The meeting took place in February, 1860. Its story is told as follows in "The Everyday Life of Abraham Lincoln":

It appears that on the Sunday which Mr. Lincoln spent in New York city he visited a Sunday school in the notorious region called Five Points and there made a short address to the scholars. After his return to Springfield one of his neighbors, hearing of this, thought it would be a good subject for bantering Mr. Lincoln about and accordingly visited him for that purpose. This neighbor was generally known as "Jim," just as Lincoln was called "Abe."

The following account of Jim's visit, furnished by Edward Eggleston, shows that he did not derive as much fun from the bantering as he had expected: "He started for 'Old Abe's' office, but, bursting open the door impulsively, found a stranger in conversation with Mr. Lincoln. He turned to retrace his steps, when Lincoln called out, 'Jim, what do you want?' 'Nothing,' 'Yes, you do. Come back.' After some entreaty Jim approached Mr. Lincoln and remarked, with a twinkle in his eye: 'Well, Abe, I see you have been making a speech to Sunday school children. What's the matter?' 'Sit down, Jim, and I'll tell you about it.' And with that Lincoln put his feet on the stove and began:

"When Sunday morning came I didn't know exactly what to do. Washburne asked me where I was going. I told him I had nowhere to go, and he proposed to take me down to the Five Points Sunday school to show me something worth seeing. I was very much interested by what I saw. Presently Mr. Pease came up and spoke to Mr. Washburne, who introduced me. Mr. Pease wanted us to speak. Washburne spoke and then I was urged to speak.

"I remembered that Mr. Pease said they were homeless and friendless, and I thought of the time when I had been pinched by terrible poverty. And so I told them that I had been poor; that I remembered when my toes stuck out through my broken shoes in winter; when my arms were out at the elbows; when I shivered with the cold. And I told them there was only one rule. That was always do the very best you can. I told them that I had always tried to do the very best I could, and that if they would follow that rule they would get along somehow. That was about what I said.

"And when I got through Mr. Pease said it was just the thing they needed. And when the school was dismissed all the teachers came up and shook hands with me and thanked me for it."

 "Just here Mr. Lincoln put his hand in his pocket and remarked that he had never heard anything that touched him as had the souls which those children sang. With that he drew forth a little book, remarking that they had given him one of the books from which they sang. He began to read a piece with all the earnestness of his great earnest soul.

"In the middle of the second verse his friend Jim felt a choking in his throat and a flicking in his nose. At the beginning of the third verse he saw that the stranger was weeping and his own tears fell fast. Turning toward Lincoln, who was reading straight on, he saw the great, blinding tears in his eyes, so that he could not possibly see the pages. He was repeating that little song from memory. How often he had read it or how long its sweet and simple accents continued to reverberate through his soul no one can know."

London's Lincoln Memorial.

The suggestion of a Lincoln memorial in London in celebration of the 100 years' peace recalls the fact that the great liberator is already commemorated in the British capital by the Lincoln tower at Christchurch.

The tower, 200 feet high, was built by Americans at the close of the civil war in appreciation of the sympathy extended by the Rev. Newman Hall and his congregation to the northern cause when public opinion in England was almost entirely on the side of the south. The stars and stripes are wrought in the stonework of the tower and the British lion and American eagle adorn it.

Police Have Evidence Which May Result in Additional Arrests at Any Time, It Is Claimed—Mayor Coffey Performs First Marriage This Afternoon.

The police and Mayor Coffey were kept busy for several hours Saturday night, with the result that four arrests were made and information unearthed which may be used to advantage in more arrests a little later on.

The first arrests were made early Saturday evening. When Arthur O'Neill and William Dudley were apprehended for the theft of about $40 worth of pelts or furs which belonged to Isaac Lough, and which had been kept in the Dahl barn near the Cox livery barn.

Evidence secured pointed to the guilt of the two men, and Alf Skidmore, and the police rounded up the first two, but Skidmore eluded the officers and escaped.

One of the pair was arrested at the home of Mary Howell, in the gas house neighborhood. Both admitted to the police, it is claimed, that they had a hand in the theft of furs. Their confession is also said to have implicated Skidmore.

After a search was made at the Central House to locate Skidmore, and he was not apprehended, the officers returned to the Howell residence. They were informed that the man was not about, and the woman told the police to investigate.

The officers went through the house and in an upstairs room found two persons, giving the name of Mary Dudley, a daughter of Mrs. Howell, and Ted Pierson. They were asleep when the officers found them. Later they agreed to secure a license and be married if punishment was not meted out to them, and later they appeared before Mayor Coffey who tied the nuptial knot.

Dudley and O'Neill were placed in the county jail, and have retained an attorney to represent them. It is understood that one of them will fight the charges against them.

The stolen pelts were found at the residence of Mat Myers, 175 Market street, and Myers had purchased them for the sum of $18.

In speaking of the Dudley-Pierson affair, Chief Moore said:

"Such conduct will not be tolerated in Washington, and we expect to make additional arrests for similar offenses within a short time. We have evidence that may result in the arrest of a number of persons who have been winking at the law."

The Flag.

On June 14, 1777, the Continental Congress resolved that the flag of the United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white, and that the Union be thirteen white stars on a blue field. On Jan. 13, 1794, by an act of congress, the flag was altered to fifteen red and white stripes and fifteen stars. On April 4, 1818, congress again altered the flag by returning to the original thirteen stripes and fifteen stars, as the adding of a new stripe for each additional state would soon make the flag too large. A new star is added to the flag on July 4 following the admission of each new state.—New York American.

U.S. MEAT SUPPLY UNEQUAL TO NEED

Eight Reasons Given For Existing Conditions.

MUST IMPORT SMALL PART

Supply of Country 13 Per Cent Less Than Demand—18,259,000 More Animals Needed For 1914, Houston Ascertains—Experts Now at Work Attempting to Solve Difficult Problem.

Washington.—Not enough meat will be produced in the United States this year to supply the population, says a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture, which estimates the supply of food animals to be 18,259,000 short.

Another bulletin says "intense competition" exists in the distribution of wheat and flour from the farmer to the consumer.

Changes in the price of flour, the department says, do not always follow immediately changes in the price of wheat, but middlemen get smaller profits when wheat is high.

The bulletin on the meat supply fulfills predictions made by experts throughout the country several years ago—that the day when the production would not equal the demand was approaching rapidly.

Unless the people eat less meat, 13 per cent of the amount they would normally consume in 1914 must come from abroad.

Eight reasons are given for the shortage, which, it is said, will be more closely investigated by the committee recently appointed by Secretary Houston to study the economics of the meat situation. The reasons are:

The encroachment of farms on the range territory. The lack of a proper range leasing law, permitting economical management and utilization of ranges.

The shortage in the corn and forage crops due to the severe drought in Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma in 1913, which caused the farmers in those states to dispose of their fat animals.

The increase in the value of land and the increased cost of labor and stock feed, resulting in greatly increased cost of production.

The decline in stock raising on farms in the east and south because of poor marketing facilities, resulting from many local slaughtering establishments having been driven out of business by the competition of the great central slaughtering establishments of the west and central west.

The temptation to sell live stock at the prevailing high prices rather than to continue to carry it with high priced stock feed, possible loss from disease or accident, and uncertain prices the following year.

Enormous losses from hog cholera. The competition of higher prices for other farm products.

Figured on the basis of each 100 of the total estimated population and compared with conditions in 1910, the bulletin estimates the shortage amounts to almost nine cattle, seven sheep and three hogs.

At the same time the report cites that the actual value of the meat animals on the farms is greater in the aggregate than it was in 1910.

The bulletin relative to wheat and flour says middlemen are content with somewhat smaller profits when wheat is high than when it is low, but it is the refusal of housewives to stick to any particular brand of flour that keeps the grocer from making big profits and furnishes the competition.

The bulletin shows that when in March, 1906, the farmer was getting 64 cents a bushel on all grades of wheat at the elevator, the margin of profit between that figure and what the consumer paid for patent flour made from a bushel of wheat was approximately 20 cents, whereas in October, 1911, when the price of wheat at the farm was 97.8 cents a bushel the margin of profit to the grain elevator, the railroad, the grain jobber or commission man, the flour mill, the flour jobber or wholesale grocer, and the grocer was but 6 cents a bushel.

FREE SEEDS ARE READY TO FORWARD

The allotment of seeds to a congressman permits him to send to but a small per cent of his constituents. For example to this district of three hundred thousand people are given only twenty-two thousand packets. In my efforts to cover the district I have had to adopt some plan to make the allotment reach the widest territory. Any method will permit some to go where they are not specially appreciated, while others desirous to have them will not be reached. Any plan adopted for the distribution under the present system will seem to discriminate in some degree. Knowing that it would be impossible to supply all I have had the seeds allotted to me sent to every other name on the mailing list. It will be understood that I would be glad to have those in my district who really wish me to send them seeds to write me, and I will send them to the extent of my allotment. Those who receive seeds and can not use them will confer a favor upon me by turning them over to some one who can use them.

Yours very truly,
S. D. FESS.

Knew Them at Once.

The vicar appointed to a living in an old English village was anxious to restore his church. On either side of the porch were grotesque, not to say hideous, faces that had become almost hidden. The vicar had these ancient faces worked up until their features were made distinct. Then he took a very old lady of the parish to see them and jokingly asked if she could tell him who they were. "Why, bless my heart, sir," said she, peering at the old ornaments, "it's you and your good lady!"

Motion Picture Actors.

When an actor or actress from the regular stage obtains a good position with a picture firm he or she rarely wishes to get back to the footlights. One reason why artists prefer picture work is that performing for the camera is much less tiring than legitimate acting, although, of course, it contains considerable more risk. Then the work is varied. It permits them to have the evenings for their own amusement, and the greatest boon of all, it is constant. A salary every week for fifty-two weeks of the year appeals to people who are accustomed to a three months' unpaid "rest" each year.—London Express.

MAIL PLAN TO AID CONSUMER.

Burleson to Give Him Direct Access to the Farmer.

Washington.—The recent decision of the house committee on agriculture to ask for $194,000 instead of $94,000 to maintain the new division of markets in the department of agriculture makes known the plan of Postmaster General Burleson to use the division of markets and the parcel post to bring farmers and consumers together, with a view to lowering the cost of living.

Circulars are to be distributed along rural free delivery routes telling the farmers of the trade opportunity offered by the postal service. These circulars will ask the farmers to record their names and addresses at convenient postoffices and then periodically file statements of the produce they wish to market and the price. The circulars will also contain information as to packing perishable products for shipment. These data will be classified and distributed among consumers in bulletin form.

The department of agriculture officials are at work on practical phases of this plan of distribution. The extra $100,000 which the agricultural committee has agreed to give is to be used to teach the farmers how to get and hold city trade.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT YOUR STATE?

Do you know the number of its factories, its wage earners, its acres of farm land, its tax laws, its pure food laws, its political platforms, its postoffices, or even its constitution?

THERE is a real fascination in learning these things, and there is untold service in having them always at your command. It would cost you hundreds of dollars to look them all up and compile them. That is what we have done for you, through the labor of experts in the various lines of information. And we have given it all—100,000 such bits of knowledge in our new OHIO ALMANAC for 1914—all at a cost to you of 25 cents. It tells you the name of every postoffice in the state and the steam and electric roads by which it may be reached. It tells you how your community voted at the last election and how that vote differed from the vote of the previous election. It tells you anything you might want to know about your own state, and tells it in the form that every busy person will appreciate.
